Lung From Dog Saves Boy In Heart Operation

MINNEAPOLIS (P)—An Arkansas boy's blood was pumped for 15 crucial minutes during a heart operation through a lung which had been removed from a dog and inflated to about the size of a football.

Some details of the dramatic operation on Calvin Richmond, 13, Pine Bluff, Ark., were revealed Thursday night by doctors at University of Minnesota Hospitals.

The boy was reported in satisfactory condition after three hours were closed in his heart chamber Wednesday.

Blood Flow Diverted

A short time before the three-hour operation, the dog's lung was removed and suspended in a plastic cylinder six feet from the patient.

When actual repair work on the heart began, the boy's blood flow was diverted by a mechanical pump through plastic tubes into the dog's lungs.

The isolated, sterile lung was ventilated with 100 per cent oxygen to purify the blood. A second pump then carried the blood back into the boy's system, first passing the blood through heated water to warm it.

By diverting the flow of blood from the heart, surgeons were able to work on a "dry field" in closing the three holes. One of the openings between the heart chambers was about the size of a nickel. The other two were somewhat smaller.

Hurt In Accident

Young Calvin had been a "heart cripple" since he was injured in a truck accident last year. The operative technique had been explained to the boy's mother and she gave her approval.

Dr. Gilbert S. Campbell, 31, spoke Thursday night for the surgical team which worked for several months on experiments leading to use of the lung of an animal.

Working with him on more than 100 experimental operations performed in using the lung of one animal while operating on another were Dr. E. B. Brown Jr. and Dr. Norman Crisp, both of the University of Minnesota.

Surgery on the Richmond boy was performed by a medical team headed by Dr. C. Walton Lillehei and Dr. Richard L. Varco.

Four Sets Of Twins Born To One Mother

MONTICELLO, Ky. (P)—Four sets of twins sat on the steps of the Wayne County Courthouse Thursday, awaiting their regular checkup by the Health Department.

The youngsters, aged 9, 7, 4 and 1, belong to Mrs. Rosie Lee Bell, 33, Barrier, Ky., who has had 11 children in her 11 years of marriage.

"And that," she said, "is enough." She has had five sets of twins, but the firstborn, as well as her only single child, died.

Sales Of GM Cars Set Record In March

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Retail sales of General Motors passenger cars during the first 20 days of March set a record for that period.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice said retail sales totaled 217,120. This was 135.9 per cent of the 1954 figure for the period, and 135.2 per cent of the previous 20-day March high set in 1953, Curtice said.

Postal Pay Raise Approved In Senate

WASHINGTON (P)—The Senate today voted 72-21 to give 500,000 postal workers at least a 10 per cent pay increase despite the threat of a presidential veto.

The action was a setback for the administration which had proposed limiting the raise to 7.6 per cent. That proposal was beaten by the Senate 52-41.

The 10 per cent raise measure now goes to the House where the administration also suffered a rebuff last Monday. At that time the House overwhelmingly rejected a rule which would have meant accepting the administration's 7.6 per cent pay hike bill on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

Democrats declared they were "tired" of attempted dictation from the executive branch, and insisted the Senate should pass what it believed to be right.

The bill passed by the Senate would give each employee at least a 10 per cent increase in pay, but would mean more for those receiving less than $4,000 a year since it has a $400 floor.

Republican Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted President Eisenhower would not sign the 10 per cent increase if it ever reached his desk. Knowland appealed to the senate to approve a measure which would not be an "empty gesture that will not become the law of the land."

Eisenhower himself has said that he viewed with "grave apprehension" any bill going beyond the 7.6 per cent figure.

Approval of the 10 per cent raise is likely to set the pattern for the million classified civil service workers. Legislation to give a raise to them is to follow the postal pay bill.

Family Of 3 Robs Brooklyn Store As Stickup Team

NEW YORK (P)—A "family" holdup team—a man, woman, and boy about 12—looted a children's shop in Brooklyn Thursday of about $250 in cash and jewelry.

First the man and boy appeared at the store. The man bought the boy some clothes and they left.

Later they came back with the woman, the man saying, "My wife doesn't like the socks. She wants to change them."

The proprietor, Mrs. Gladys Ruzal, was agreeable. "Take anything you want," she said.

"That's just what we're going to do," said the man, pulling out a gun. "This is a stickup."

With the boy posted at the door as a lookout, the man and woman locked Mrs. Ruzal in a back room and escaped with $40 in cash, plus Mrs. Ruzal's rings and a watch valued at about $200.

Rocky Mountain Area Battered By Blizzard

Ice-Jammed Niagara Rips Docks And Homes

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (P)—

Local residents, Army engineers and Coast Guardsmen still watched helplessly today as the ice-filled Niagara River continued on its home and dock-wrecking rampage.

The grinding mass of glacierlike ice showed no signs of washing out into Lake Ontario.

Summer homes and boat docks along the shoreline below the falls were reduced to rubble as the ice went up over the river banks. Property estimated at nearly a million dollars was threatened.

In some spots, the pileup was as deep as 50 feet. The only open water in the rapids below the falls was a short stretch near the whirlpool.

The shoreline from Lewiston down to Fort Niagara on the U.S. side and from Queenston to Niagara-on-the-Lake on the Canadian side caught the brunt of the damage.

Above the falls, an ice jam has slowed the flow of water over the American falls considerably.

Seven cottages were crushed by the ice at Lewiston.

The Queenston steamboat dock, where Toronto excursion boats dock during the summer, was destroyed Thursday and water was reported to be pouring into the Ontario hydroelectric plants near Queenston.

Army engineers reported that Lake Ontario was about 20 feet above the normal level at Rochester.

The engineers said there was no hope of being able to dynamite the jam. The slush under the ice would only act as a cushion, they said. An attempt was made Tuesday to dynamite the ice but it only succeeded in breaking up the surface ice.

Hacked-Up Michigan Highway Bill May Die In Conference

LANSING (P)—A conference committee today inherited the harrassed highway bill, causing some legislators to speculate that the measure is dead.

The Senate Thursday sent the bill into conference after the House had rejected every one of the upper chamber's amendments.

Named to the Senate committee were: Sens. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) and Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson).

Tax Split Opposed

Two of these three lawmakers are strongly opposed to the controversial "Roy Amendment," which gives sparsely populated counties big slices of a proposed one-and-a-half cent gas tax increase.

House members of the conference committee were expected to be appointed today by speaker Wade Van Valkenburg (R-Kalamazoo).

Van Valkenburg said he has chosen only one of the committee members—rep. Emil Peltz (R-Rogers City).

Peltz, author of the original House bill, is rigidly opposed to a Senate amendment which gives the state 75 per cent of the gas tax increase and leaves cities and counties 25 per cent.

Trade Hopes Fade

Peltz has long regarded the present distribution formula as unworkable. It gives 44 per cent to the state, 39 per cent to counties and 19 per cent to the cities.

Referral of the bill to a conference committee seemed to dash hopes, at least temporarily, for a trade between the two chambers.

Toward the end of the week, lawmakers began talking of a deal that would give northern Michigan counties one million dollars annually for snow removal.

Opponents claim the amendment favors sparsely populated counties at the expense of 15 more populous counties, and robs the Wayne County Road Commission of one million dollars annually.

First Oil Tanker

TRAVERSE CITY (P)—The first oil boat of the season docked in Traverse City Thursday—a sure sign of spring to residents. The Traverse City Socyony arrived from Chicago and began unloading 1,250,000 gallons of gasoline and fuel oil.

Detroit Girl, 7, Hunted By 200

DETROIT (P)—A block-by-block search of a six square mile area on Detroit's densely populated east side has failed to turn up a trace of a 7-year-old girl, missing for nearly 24 hours.

A 200-man police posse continued the hunt all night. A roundup of known sex deviates was slated for today.

Little Barbara Gaca disappeared shortly after she left for school at 8 a.m. Thursday.

Her mother, Rita, 29, reported her missing when the girl failed to return home for lunch. Mrs. Gaca telephoned Assumption Grotto School where Barbara is a second-grade pupil but learned the child had not shown up for classes Thursday morning.

Fifty probationary police were called in to join in the search after dark. Nearby parks were scoured and police made a door-to-door check of the neighborhood.

By early this morning police expressed fear the girl had been taken out of the Conner Precinct—nervous center of the search.

Drunkometer Tested But Patient Is Sober

ALBUQUERQUE (P)—City police have a new device for testing drunkenness. They decided to show it off before a meeting of city department heads.

But no one could be found to take the "few drinks" necessary to demonstrate the machine.

So police were quickly dispatched to Albuquerque's skid row to round up one of the jail's "regular customers."

A man was found and brought in. The test was run. He was sober.

Congress Library Gets Testament In Christ's Language

WASHINGTON (P)—One of the most treasured of Christian documents, the oldest known New Testament in the language spoken by Christ and his disciples, goes to the Library of Congress today.

A 1½-million-dollar insurance policy covered the document during the estimated 90-minute transfer from a downtown bank.

The volume, believed to be more than 1,600 years old, will be kept in a vault at the library until it goes on exhibition April 5.

The testament is known as the Yonan Codex. For centuries it has been in the keeping of the Malek Yonan family, which came from Assyria. Codex means a book form of manuscript as distinguished from the scroll form. No sale price has been announced.

L. Quincy Mumford, librarian of Congress, said the Yonan Codex is believed to be the world's oldest complete New Testament in Aramaic-Syriac—the language that Christ and his disciples spoke.

Storms Bring Subzero Chill For 3 States

DENVER (P)—The worst spring blizzard in three years lashed three Rocky Mountain states with snow and subzero cold today. One death was reported.

Schools were closed in parts of Montana and Wyoming. Elsewhere temperatures dipped to all-time lows for the month.

Snow and triphammer winds cut off electric power at Evanston, a southern Wyoming town of 3,863. Auxiliary plants were providing power to the town's two hospitals. A resident termed the inconvenience "discomforting" but "not critical."

Motorist Killed

Colorado had winds up to 50 miles an hour. Carl Gustave Koch, 38, of Windsor, Colo., died in a two-car accident caused by slick highways.

Even as the storm moved southward, leaving Montana skies clear for the first time in three days, the Weather Bureau reported another would hit that state late today, again bringing blizzard conditions.

Montana temperatures dipped to -26 at Helena and -15 at Great Falls early today. Both are all-time lows for the date.

Traffic Snarled

Snow depth was spotty. The top mark was 9 inches at Cody, Wyo. By midnight 6 inches were on the ground at Denver, where the storm struck in early evening, snarling traffic and causing scores of minor accidents.

Snow from 1 to 3 inches fell over western sections of Nebraska and Kansas and there were lighter falls in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

There also was light snow in sections of the Northeast, with about an inch in parts of New York. Only other wet spots were in the lower Ohio Valley, which reported thundershowers, and along the northern Pacific Coast where light rain continued.

The freezing line extended from central New England southeastward across central Ohio, central Missouri into southeast Colorado and northward along the western slopes of the Rockies. It was warmer in most of the Eastern states and mild in the Gulf region.

Towboat Sinks; 4 Men Missing

CAMDEN, Tenn. (P)—Three survivors of the towboat Annie S. Cooper crawled ashore about four miles downstream early today three hours after the boat rammed a pier and sank in the Tennessee River.

Four other crewmen were still missing, including one unconscious man floating in a swamped dory.

The Benton County sheriff's office listed the missing as William Yates, about 34, Knoxville, captain; T. M. Lusk, 36, Chattanooga, pilot; Mrs. Dorothy Shirley, about 40, Knoxville, cook; Robert Anderson, 19, Clifton, Tenn., deckhand.

Those who climbed safely ashore were Millard Gilliam, 33, Poplar Bluff, Mo., chief engineer; William Biler, 21, Chaffee, Mo., assistant engineer; and Losco L. McDaniels, 21, Anderson, Ala., deckhand.

Tax Cutting Becomes Big Political Issue Of Year

WASHINGTON (P)—A Senate-House conference committee today voted to kill a Democratic proposal for a $20 a person income tax cut next year.

Democrats said they "reluctantly" yielded and accepted a Senate bill merely extending present corporation income and excise tax rates for one more year.

Democrats had pushed through the House a plan to give each taxpayer and each dependent a $20 tax cut starting next Jan. 1. They tied this into an Eisenhower administration bill continuing corporation and excise taxes.

The Senate voted 61-32 to take the tax cut out of the bill. Democrats said in the face of that opposition, they were forced to yield on the issue to avoid a major loss in revenue from corporation and excise taxes.

Corporate and excise taxes are scheduled to drop on April 1 by three billion dollars annually unless the extension bill is enacted by that date.

The conference committee voted down a last-minute Democratic compromise proposal calling for a $10 per person income tax cut. Meanwhile, house 3rd graph, 46

Hidden Windfall Hit
Meanwhile, House debate on another tax bill Thursday indicated tax policy may be developing as the hottest political issue of the year.

The bill, passed unanimously by voice vote and sent to the Senate, would repeal two business tax benefits included in last year's general overhaul of all tax laws.

The merits of repeal, however, were scarcely mentioned during two hours of argument by Republican and Democratic leaders over broader tax policy.

House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass.) called the business benefits a "hidden windfall" of several billion dollars for corporations. He charged that Republicans generally favor "the select few" and discriminate against the "little" taxpayer.

Can't Fool People
That drew a retort from Deputy GOP Leader Halleck (R-Ind.) that Democrats are frantically dragging up a false issue to try to stave off defeat in the 1956 presidential and congressional elections.

"The people will not be fooled," Halleck declared amid loud applause from the GOP side.

The approved bill would repeal sections (1) giving some business firms a tax deduction for certain estimated future expenses; and (2) postponing tax payments on some income which involves future services.

The repeal, however, would be retroactive back through 1954.

Pentagon Red-Faced; Navy Plane Shown In Air Force Poster

SHREVEPORT, La. (P)—Air Force tempers rocketed today over a recruiting poster that urged "go places with the U.S. Air Force" but seemingly offered a Navy plane as transportation.

"It certainly bears a striking resemblance to the Navy's F4D1," said Lt. Col. John Spaulding, public information officer for the 2nd Air Force.

The poster showed a pretty Waf, a handsome, competent-looking sergeant, and, against a blue, blue sky, the offending plane: a delta-wing jet exactly like the Navy's famed Skyray.

At Wright-Patterson Field in Dayton, Ohio, Brig. Gen. Arno Leuhman, commanding general of Air Force recruiting, promised to find out how the plane got on the poster—and quick!

The general muttered maledictions against New York's Madison Avenue, the street where the poster was prepared by a national advertising agency.

The Pentagon, which approved the poster, also was red-faced.

The to-do started when telegraph editor Allan Lazarus of the Shreveport Times, an airplane hobbyist, spotted the billboard near the business district.

Wife Of Astor Called Greedy

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—John Jacob Astor's third wife, branded by a circuit judge as "a scheming, lying girl," will have to get along on $75 a week.

Judge Vincent C. Giblin said he would sign a formal order today allowing $12,500 to attorneys for Mrs. Dolores Fullman Astor, 27, and stipulating that Astor pay all court costs.

Dolly, a curvy blonde who married the New York millionaire playboy in Arlington, Va., last Aug. 6 and left him Sept. 21, sued for separate maintenance and reportedly wanted $500,000.

Astor, 44, countered with a suit for divorce and was believed to have offered Dolly $50,000.

Judge Giblin denied Astor's plea for divorce, saying he lacked jurisdiction because Astor failed to prove he is a legal resident of Florida.

"I am not going to extract money from the defendant's pockets just because he is a wealthy man," Giblin said, adding he had "not the slightest bit of sympathy" for Mrs. Astor.

"To me she and her father (George J. Fullman of Miami Beach) are despicable people who have no principles; who were motivated in this case by greed for money. She married this man for his money. I don't believe his faults justified the vicious and untrue attacks."

The nature of the attacks was not disclosed. They were heard in the judge's chambers.

Industry Would Expand, Provide More Jobs With Private Power, Menck Of Harnischfeger States

"In my opinion, a source of firm private power from an established producer is the only long-term answer for your area," Herman O. Menck, vice president of Harnischfeger Corporation, said here this week during a visit to Harnischfeger's Escanaba plants.

Commenting on Escanaba's electric power shortage problem, Menck said that "with a firm and unlimited source of electrical power and a continuing stable economy and our industries, I can visualize a growth within five years in our Harnischfeger-Escanaba operations to a total employment of 1,500 to 2,000 people." Harnischfeger currently is employing 800 persons here.

All users of electricity, including farmers, suburban residents, city of Escanaba residents as well as increasing commercial and industrial loads, would be "best served by a source of supply that is an integrated system and not dependent upon a single source," he said.

Complete Statement

Menck's complete statement follows:

"Being interested in the welfare of Escanaba and its surrounding communities, I have been following your electrical power problem very closely for the past few months.

"In the past you have enjoyed a very favorable wholesale rate for purchasing power for resale under your distribution system and which has lately been at the expense of one of your local industries and was probably due to their not having had enough foresight when making the original contract. Having had such favorable rate, you have been able to turn a substantial amount of money into the city's general fund.

"As I understand it, there have been three solutions offered in conjunction with the power problem. In my opinion, a source of firm private power from an established producer is the only long-term answer for your area. The ever increasing electrical loads of all in the area, including those of the farmers, suburban residents, and city of Escanaba residents, as well as the increasing commercial and industrial loads (in which I am primarily interested) would be best served by a source of supply that is an integrated system and not dependent upon a single source.

"I have seen our employment in Escanaba grow from 150 to almost 800 in the last five years and yet today about 15 per cent of your employable labor source is looking for work. In my book, payroll dollars are the best form of permanent prosperity any community can enjoy.

"With a firm and unlimited source of electrical power and a continuing stable economy in our industries I can visualize a growth within five years in our Harnischfeger-Escanaba operations to a total employment of 1,500 to 2,000 people. In addition, your local groups are constantly making an effort to attract more industries into this community and before any serious thought can be given of location by industry, it must be insured of ample dependable power. Metal working industries alone are using constantly increased amounts of power with the rapid developments of processing of metals such as is hardening of the new and rare type metals.

"Building your own municipal plant might solve exclusively the local problem; however, industries and people in the surrounding areas from which you directly or indirectly benefit will not have a solution to their problem. In addition, you must continually contend with battling inefficiencies and losses of running your own smaller operation such as you have experienced with the municipal steam plant operations. Also, you must always be ready at any time to expand your facilities which might call for the floating of further bond issues in order to allow for an unexpected and accelerated load growth.

"In purchasing power from the local Cooperative such as is proposed, you must consider that you are only allowed the excess of surplus power that gives an advantage may give. My company, incidentally, could not make any further growth or expansion plans if we did not know from one day to the next whether or not we have guaranteed firm power.

"In selling your distribution system, allowing a large power plant to be built in Escanaba which will also have to pay increasing amounts of county, city and school taxes as they continually expand, I believe Escanaba will be in a very favorable position to take advantage of the expansion that is to take place in the Upper Peninsula.

"I am also mindful to the fact that any solution of sound and reasonable rate structure for all is of prime importance."

Icebreaker Coming:

Cutter To Open Harbor For First Boat April 5

Two trainloads of iron ore will arrive in Escanaba this coming weekend, the U. S. Coast Guard has scheduled opening of the harbor for April 1, and the first boat of the season is tentatively set to come here April 5.

George C. Stuart, superintendent of the Peninsula Division, Chicago & North Western Railway, today said the iron ore tonnage to be handled by the C&NW here this year is expected to go above last year's total by some 500,000 to 800,000 tons.

Last year's ore shipments from Escanaba totaled 3,967,417 tons, and the anticipated tonnage this year would total approximately 4,600,000 or more tons.

Ore On Its Way

The first ore boat will come to Escanaba on April 5, Stuart said. Other sources indicated that coal and fuel oil stocks are running low at lake terminals in the area, and that the first boat of the season may be a tanker on April 4.

L. A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent, reported that a couple trainloads of iron ore will arrive this weekend from the Menominee range. The ore will come from Inland Steel mines at Crystal Falls and Stambaugh. Loading at the mines and shipment to Escanaba will continue in advance of the opening of navigation.

C&NW dock No. 6 only will be used this coming season, according to McMillan. The dock repair program on No. 6 is now drawing to a close. No. 5 dock will not be used and the outer portion of the dock, which has not been maintained, will be dismantled this year.

Cutter Is Delayed

Escanaba is usually the first iron ore port on the Great Lakes to begin shipping, and the last to close in the fall.

The cold snap has tightened the ice on the bays and commercial fishing will be continued into next week because the arrival date of the Coast Guard cutter has been postponed. Original announcement was that the cutter Sundew was to come here on Sunday, March 27.

The five-day delay will permit the fishermen to continue operations at a season when the market is usually good. After the spring breakup the fishermen will set their nets in open water.

Sometimes in past years the too-early arrival of the Coast Guard cutter, brought protests from the ice fishermen, whose operations were needlessly interrupted weeks in advance of the arrival of the first boat.

Tourist And Resort Operators Invited To Spring Meeting

Food service operators who serve the touring and vacationing public are invited to attend a spring meeting to be held April 4-6 at Michigan State College, East Lansing, during the Tourist and Resort Institute.

The meeting will be of interest and value to all operators of resorts, restaurants, lunchrooms, and other food operators serving the public. Certificates will be issued to those attending the full three-day Institute.

Operators of tourist and resort facilities will be invited to discuss problems of their business, particularly those relating to food service.

Further information may be obtained from J. L. Heirman, Delta County agricultural agent, phone 90, and Wallace Benzie, sanitary engineer of the Michigan Department of Health. Written inquiries may also be mailed to the Tourist and Resort Institute, Continuing Education, Kellogg Center, Michigan State College.

Thieves Rob Wells Store

The Delta County Sheriff's Department and Michigan State Police are investigating a breaking and entering of the Wells Cash Store, operated by Lester Noel, at Wells. A quantity of beer, cigarettes, wine and meat loaves were stolen but no money was taken.

Sheriff Wm. Miron reported that 25 to 30 six-pack cartons of beer were stolen, as well as 40 cartons of cigarettes, three bottles of wine and parts of three meat loaves, totalling about 12 pounds.

A 100-pound sack of beans was strewn on the floor, apparently so the thieves could use the bag to haul off their loot. Money in the cash register was undisturbed.

Entrance was made by breaking a lower panel of the back door.

Power Plans Explained At Public Forum

Proponents of three proposed solutions of the Escanaba power problem presented their views at a public forum last night at the Lemmer School under the sponsorship of the League of Women Voters and the Escanaba Adult Education School.

Prof. Forest Roberts of Northern Michigan College served as moderator at the meeting which was attended by nearly 200 persons.

Summarizes Proposal

Warden declared that Escanaba cannot depend on excess or surplus power for its electric supply. He declared that the plant that the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative proposes to build and to serve the entire area would not be larger than the plant which was recommended for just the City of Escanaba alone by electric engineers. Warden said that the city would soon be faced with another electric shortage under the electric cooperative plan.

Warden summarized the proposal of the Upper Peninsula Power Company as follows:

Purchase the city electric distribution system for $1,200,000; build in Escanaba a 12,500 kw generating plant, build a 69,000 volt line from Escanaba to Gwinn to interconnect with the U. P. Power Co.'s present system, set up an Escanaba district office, purchase the Upper Michigan Power & Light system to serve the entire area, offer city electric employees and U. P. Power & Light Co. employees equivalent or better jobs, offer the management resources of the Upper Peninsula Power Co. in developing this area industrially and commercially, spend approximately $100,000 a year for five years to rehabilitate the city distribution system.

Shultz Outlines Plan

E. O. Shultz of the engineering firm of Pfeiffer and Shultz outlined the proposal for a municipal generating plant. Shultz declared that the City of Escanaba should either get in the electric business completely or get out of the electric business completely.

Shultz declared that the city could build an electric plant for about $4,400,000 to be financed by revenue bonds. He said that the bonds could be liquidated in about 15 1/2 years and that the city could continue to earn about $250,000 yearly for its general fund from electric profits.

Shultz emphasized that a city generating plant would tie in well with the city steam plant, making a more efficient operation of the two utilities.

Shultz said that any generating plant that is built, whether by the Upper Peninsula Power Co., the Alger-Delta Electric Corp. or the city itself — will be paid for from rates charged to electric consumers.

Coop Proposal Told

Wynland Nieuwenkamp, manager of the Alger-Delta Cooperative, declared that the proposed cooperative plan would provide sufficient firm power for the City of Escanaba until its peak demand equals or exceeds 12,000 to 14,000 kw, or about double the present maximum load of 6,400 kw. Additional capacity could be provided later by the city at the lowest possible cost, Nieuwenkamp said.

Nieuwenkamp said that buying power from the cooperative would save the City of Escanaba $120,000 per year as compared to operating its own power plant. He declared that purchase of power from the cooperative would permit the city to continue to attain substantial profits from its electric distribution system and to avoid a tax increase that may otherwise be necessary.

County Clerks Warned To Strictly Observe Absentee Voter Law

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James M. Hare cautioned city and township clerks today to obey the absentee voter law strictly before the April 4 election.

He said that applications for absentee ballots must be submitted before 2 p. m., Saturday, April 2, and may only be given to persons who have substantial reasons for voting by absentee ballot.

Hare said applications for absentee ballots must be made in person or by a signed request mailed to the clerk by the voter himself and must be returned to the applicant by mail or delivered personally in the clerk's office.

Concert Drive Ends Saturday

The Delta County Community Concert membership drive will be concluded at 3 p. m. tomorrow afternoon. The campaign for memberships for the 1955-56 concert season has been a one week concentrated effort by volunteer workers throughout the county. All memberships are sold during this one week campaign, and none will be available after the 3 p. m. deadline tomorrow.

At 4 p. m. tomorrow afternoon, the Board of the Association will meet at the Chamber of Commerce office with John Schickling, national representative of Community Concerts, to select the three concerts to be presented next season. The price of the concerts is determined by the number of memberships sold. The Board selects the finest talent available within the membership budget. The concert selections will be announced as soon as the contracts are signed in New York.

Anyone who has not been contacted by a worker and who desires a membership, may secure it at the Chamber of Commerce office. The headquarters phone is 3440.

To attend the concerts, memberships must be purchased now, as no single admissions are ever sold to any concert.

Better Public Manners Needed With Increase In Population

MAYBE you read about the woman who was indicted recently for refusing to get off a party telephone line when a man sought to report a fire in his house. He had to get into his car and drive half a mile to another telephone.

It's less likely you saw an item telling how a housewife in a big city tried to charge a sanitation inspector with petty bribery after he gave her a summons for littering the street. Walking right past a nearly empty litter basket, the woman had rolled up a paper bag she was carrying and tossed it into the gutter.

Next day she stormed into the sanitation department office, demanded to see the "commissioner," declared she had dropped a "piece of paper" by accident, and charged the arresting inspector with attempted bribery. Fortunately, the officer had a witness to the whole incident on the street.

These examples of bad public behavior could be multiplied many times today. They can be found anywhere in the land, from the country lane to the most crowded city streets. It's a growing problem that we had better meet.

We Americans grow more numerous every day. The experts say that by 1975 there'll be 220 million of us, against 164 million now. If we are to live as decent human beings, we must accommodate to these rising numbers. And that means we must exhibit better public manners than many of us are doing.

Confronted with often surprising hordes of people as we move about on the streets and highways, in stores, stations, theaters and the like, too many of us shove, bump, dig with our elbows and try to jam in ahead of others who were "there first." We cast paper and other litter about as if the world were our wastebasket.

This is a spacious country. We've always had plenty of room to roam in, though our cities have been fairly well crowded for some time. But our communities are becoming teeming places today. It isn't easy for us to learn the lesson that we must accommodate to each other if they are to be at all endurable.

Think ahead. In most of the places we know there will be more people next year, a good many more five years from now, and more than we can perhaps imagine 20 years hence.

If the level of public manners drops as our numbers increase, and this seems to have happened in recent times, then we'll soon be in danger of aping the ways of the jungle.

Basically, good public behavior stems both from self-respect and respect for your fellow men. If you think well of them, then it will be natural for you to act as if you knew they were around and had rights of their own, rights which often conflict with yours.

Then you will exhibit kindness and deference and courtesy. This is what we mean by "accommodation." There must be much more of it if life in America's public places is to be not only bearable but pleasant, attractive and rewarding in the crowded years ahead.

Never stop a person trying to make his mark, advises a writer. Now watch Junior go to town on the front room wall.

Today And Tomorrow

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is entrusting to Harold Stassen an assignment he considers awesomely important. It is accurate to say that no single issue occupies the President's waking moments more than the problem of world disarmament. He isn't going to take no for an answer if he can possibly help it. These are the ideas which are perceptibly foremost in his mind in creating this full-time, Cabinet-rank post of Secretary of Disarmament.

1.—With a divided world, with each side possessed of incalculable atomic-hydrogen weapons, mankind is today literally treading the brink of self-destruction—as far as this world is concerned. If, as a nation, we take a wrong turning or our foot slips even once, we may well be plunged, even accidentally, into a war of no return. At least until the worst weapons of war are mutually put aside by enforceable methods, they may well go off in our hands and it will not be like anything we have seen in the past. This is how important disarmament is.

2.—Despite the enormous difficulties which make disarmament seem but a dim, unrealizable sliver of hope, despite the inability of the Soviet world and the free world to make any headway thus far, the President refuses to accept for himself or for other leaders the belief that failure is inevitable. He intends to keep moving, to keep searching and this is why he has directed Mr. Stassen to devote his full time to demanding and exploring new, fresh, workable ideas to make disarmament attainable before it is too late.

DEDICATED TO DISARMAMENT

3.—The effect of Mr. Stassen's appointment is to make it clear to the world that American leadership is unswervingly dedicated to practical disarmament and that we intend to work at it continuously and with the best brains we can command. Mr. Stassen's experience as administrator of the foreign aid program, his practical but flexible turn of mind, his ability to look a new idea in the face without blanching make him well fitted for his new job.

4.—There is a danger greater than no disarmament. That danger is one-sided disarmament. That is the kind of disarmament which the United States practiced after World War I until Hitler's invasion of Poland began to wake us up, and which we practiced after World War II until Communist aggression began a warning which the attack on Korea completed. An armaments race is dangerous but one-sided disarmament is still more dangerous. We must have the stamina to remain strong until everybody's military strength can be progressively reduced by enforceable agreement.

There are three factors which make practical disarmament seem more unreachably today than when the U. N. negotiations began, more unreachably than before new turmoil inside the Kremlin began after Stalin's death. These factors are:

The accumulation by both the Soviet Union and the U. S. of large stockpiles of atomic-hydrogen weapons makes it more difficult to carry out a disarmament-control agreement. It is far easier to check on possible illegal production of nuclear weapons than it is to check on possible concealment of a stockpile.

UNANSWERED QUESTION

The U. S. development of small nuclear weapons capable of tactical use on military targets adds a complicating factor. If you are going to abolish big nuclear weapons, it is possible for one side or the other to retain small nuclear weapons. But if we give up tactical atomic arms, would we not be denying ourselves the only counterbalance to the vast military manpower of the Communist world?

And, finally, can the Soviet Communist dictatorship ever really open its doors and windows to the free world and permit the only kind of thorough and continuous inspection of its economy which would make a disarmament agreement inspectable and enforceable? Isn't the Iron Curtain essential to survival of the dictatorship? Can the Politburo allow the outside world really to know how things are inside the U. S. R.?

That is the unanswered question and probably the greatest and ultimate barrier to a disarmament agreement.

These are some of the reasons why Mr. Stassen is undertaking the most complex, inspiring, stressful, rewarding assignment in the world today. His cause—mankind's cause—deserves everybody's help and will need everybody's prayers.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is the oldest name in European literary history?

A—Homer, the Greek poet.

Q—Are waterspouts composed of fresh or salt water?

A—Although waterspouts may draw up some sea water from near their base, the greater part of the water they contain is fresh.

Unless There's a Miracle

Reds Can Now Match American Air Power On Far East Front

TAIPEI (NEA)—America must face this fresh depressing danger that snares our adventure in the East China Seas:

The Communists can now challenge the combined airpower in the Orient of the U. S. and Nationalist China.

Control of the skies over the Straits of Formosa is the first step to the invasion of this island—an island we are pledged to defend.

At the present rate of plane and airstrip buildup on the nearby mainland, Red China will soon be able to trigger the Battle for Formosa—an island they are pledged to conquer.

It must indeed be shocking to the complacent souls who have ignored the new facts of life in Asia to realize that the United States would go into any such struggle with the odds against it—at least during the early stages.

The odds could only be adjusted by stripping other vital areas of aircraft—or by employing various atomic weapons against Peking's primary points of power, an ultimate gamble that could bring the whole world to shambles.

This is indeed the heart of the matter as the spring of decision is on us and our diplomats, generals and admirals shuttle halfway around the world to the shabby briefing rooms of Taipei—as far from the air-conditioned Pentagon nerve center as you can possibly go.

What they see on the clever maps and charts prepared by Chinese Air Force leader, Gen. "Tiger" Wong, is statistical proof of Red air power that makes the much discussed future of Quemoy and Matsu islands a minor topic.

When Chiang fled the mainland in 1949 he brought his meager collection of tired aircraft. What wouldn't fly was left—a booty trapped gift. Then the Communies owned not even an armed box-kite.

From zero the Chinese Communist

Air Force fattened fast on Russian advice and donations until a year later MIGs outnumbered our Sabrejets over North Korea two to one. However, their pilots were as steady on the wheel as a motorist after a New Year's Eve whoopee party. U. S. flyboys sent many graveyard.

The MIGs studied hard in Korea and by the time the truce was inked at Panmunjon they did well enough to delight their Soviet backseat drivers, no mean jet jockeys themselves.

Today the Chinese Communist Air Force has 200 combat ready planes. Eight hundred point at Formosa like a pistol at a man with a spear. Four hundred are MIGs, Moscow's main muscle, plus jet bombers.

Only Allied jet competent of tangling with MIGs today is the F-86 Sabrejet. Nationalists now study the Sabrejet, won't be able to fly it for months.

They have F-84, Thunderjets which "get down on the deck" and skeedaddle if a MIG shows. Above 20,000 feet the Thunderjet can wrestle a MIG as well as a Pekinese can wrestle a wolf.

The U. S. has a few Sabrejets on Formosa; more would streak in from Okinawa and the Philippines. Gen. Earl Partridge, U. S. Air Force Asiatic boss, admits he'd enter the Battle for Formosa with the odds three-to-one against him, not counting available Soviet jets parked in Manchuria.

The Nationalists do not own a single modern bomber. Even though we've had longer experience at giving shooting irons away to friends, the Soviets have been freer with their gifts in this Chinese Civil War.

Our atomic bombers, snuggled under palm trees in the Mariana Islands, could smash Red China. But nobody out here thinks of a heavyweight war.

Despite globe-circling intercontinental bombers, gassed by flying filling stations, landing strips for fighter planes are still essential to victory. Infantry invading without fighter cover would be leasing cemetery plots.

In 1945 our propellered Mustang fighters flew eight hour missions from Iwo Jima to strafe Japan. Today's jet fighters are twice as fast, but run dry in one-quarter the time.

To put MIGs in striking distance, Peking now builds strips on the Fukien coast next to Formosa. Construction of a massive jet strip at Luchow, near the Tachens, helped decide evacuation. With airstrips being polished off as far south as Fochow and Canton. If for anybody who cares to remain on Quemoy or

GEN. "TIGER" WONG'S maps tell a story of Red air power.

Matsu will be quite lively in the weeks ahead.

Unless the U. S. goes for broke and bombs the airstrips, they'll be able to start mothering MIGs in 75 days.

American and Chinese Nationalist airmen agree: Step One would be for the Reds to lure the Nationalists' few jets into combat, crush them by sheer weight. Step Two: Invasion?

An unproven factor in the game of numbers discussed above is jet planes housed by the Seventh Fleet. But no aviation student claims a carrier-based aircraft can spar a MIG.

This is the new hard truth, revealed for all to see in recent days: It is no longer a question of "Will the United States defend Formosa?"

The question now is: "Can we?"

So They Say

If I have learned anything from this experience, it is that you can't write tax legislation in a hurry.—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D., Va.).

If Communist China would like to open diplomatic relations with Japan by allowing Japan to recognize Nationalist China we would be willing to open negotiations.—Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama, Japan.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It cost the United States nearly $60 million last year to feed Arab refugees in the Middle East. There are now over 900,000 of these refugees. The cost of their upkeep is only $1.28 a week per person.

All of the United Nations, whose wards these refugees really are, agreed to contribute to their support. But most of the other nations just don't pay their share. So Uncle Sam picks up the tab.

Herded behind barbed wire in desert concentration camps, these Arab refugees are perhaps the most pitiful people in the world, outside the Iron Curtain. They are now increasing at the rate of 100,000 a year, births over deaths. When first driven out of Palestine they numbered 650,000.

Nobody wants these displaced people. There is no arable land in the area on which they can be resettled. The problem of making new homes for them—and getting them off the backs of the U. S. taxpayers at the same time—may therefore take as much as ten years to work out.

THE KEY TO THIS PLAN is to get Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon to agree on harnessing and sharing the water of the Jordan River system.

Preliminary blueprints for this development have been ready for several years. Engineers know just how it could be done. It would cost $120 million. It could develop 100,000 kilowatts of electric power.

Water stored behind the dams could irrigate 250,000 acres in the four countries. And on those acres an estimated one third of the Arab refugees could be resettled. That would be a start.

Sixteen months ago President Eisenhower named Eric A. Johnston as his special ambassador to try to get the four countries to agree on joint Jordan River development.

MR. JOHNSTON HAS JUST returned from his third unsuccessful mission to the area. In April or May he will try again. By the end of this year he feels there may be agreement.

The main reason for all this dillying and dallying, however, is that the two sides—the three Arab countries on the one hand and the Israelis on the other—wanted to talk more about their war with each other than about something that might promote their common welfare.

Eric Johnston left the Middle East just before the recent Gaza incident broke out, in which 38 Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed. The UN Armistice commission had just held Israel responsible for stirring up this fuss.

It will unquestionably set back the Jordan plan. But this has been typical of the entire eight-year history of Israel. Every time the Middle East begins to quiet down, some new incident is provoked to raise a dust storm.

THE LAST TIME IT WAS Egyptian seizure of an Israeli freighter in the Suez Canal and the execution by Egypt of Israeli spies. A neutral observation might be that one side was as guilty as the other. But a few weeks ago, Washington diplomats of the Arab countries were reporting that the Arab League—bastion of opposition to Israel in the Middle East—was a dead duck. A little restraint on the part of the Israeli forces might have done wonders in easing the tension in this area.

Before there can be any Jordan River Valley Authority to change the lot of the Arab refugees there must be some semblance of political stability. It would be of more benefit to the Middle East if American Zionists would hold Washington conferences to promote this idea than to agitate for more arms aid for Israel, as they have just done.

Producer Mervyn Leroy, choosing locations near the Papago Indian settlement in Arizona, found that his predecessors had left their mark on the Indian lads who applied for jobs as extras. They couldn't speak much English, they indicated, but thoroughly understood "Hollywood talk."

"What's that?" inquired Leroy. Happily the Indian lads reeled off, "Action! Cut! That's lousy; Better take it over! Twenty minute break for lunch."

The Doctor Says . . .

No Single Diet Will Prevent Hardening of the Arteries

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Each year a great many people develop some symptoms resulting from hardening of the arteries and either they or their relatives become extremely anxious to learn something about what is going on.

Perhaps the first question which comes to mind is whether hardening of the arteries or arteriosclerosis is becoming more common. Probably it is, but this is most likely because fewer people die young from such diseases as pneumonia, diphtheria or typhoid and therefore reach an age when the walls of the arteries have become somewhat hardened and may be producing symptoms.

THE PROCESS of the arteries becoming less elastic starts early in life, but it is unusual to have symptoms from this change until the middle or later years. Just what symptoms will be caused from arteriosclerosis depends on which arteries are affected (since the process does not develop evenly in all of them), and to what degree the blood flow is lessened by the deposits of calcium or fatty substances in the walls of the arteries.

The increased hardness of the arteries which lessens the flow of blood is likely to be so gradual that there is no way of detecting it until it has been developing a long time. For example, the walls of the arteries in the legs may become thick, hard, and inelastic while those supplying the abdominal organs or the arms are still normal and soft.

DEPOSITS of calcium in the walls of the blood vessels is the principal thing responsible for hardening of the arteries. Why calcium should be deposited in the arteries, why it should be deposited faster in some arteries than in others, and why it should come earlier in some people than in others, no one yet knows.

Deposits of calcium are apt to come earlier in the members of some families than in others. Perhaps also the ordinary wear and tear of living plays a part in the speed with which the arteries become sclerotic or hardened. Overeating, disturbances of hormone secretion, certain diseases of the kidney, chronic infections, have also been blamed.

THE TREATMENT of hardening of the arteries depends on which blood vessels are involved and how seriously they are affected. There is no single diet or vitamin which will prevent hardening of the arteries or any which will dissolve out calcium deposits already formed. Perpetual youth cannot be retained and therefore a person with arteriosclerosis must learn to live with his arteries as comfortably as possible.

Pupils Squirt Bus Driver; Guns Found Hidden Inside Books

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (P) — Lawrence B. Esposito drives the 2:45 p.m. bus out of Roger Ludlowe High School. He was a marked man. Gunmen lurked behind him. Any second he'd get it in the back of the head. It was nerve wracking. But school buses must go through.

He'd gotten it before. He knew what it was like. It sends a cold chill down your spine. You stiffen in your seat. Then you get hot all over.

When he got it before, he stopped the bus and lectured those kids with the water pistols. Twice, three times he got it. Twice, three times he lectured.

"I'll frisk 'em today," he thought. Esposito found only two water pistols among 30 pupils. He confiscated them.

Ah, peace again. Those lectures must have worked. . . splash—in the back of the head. The chill down his spine. Splash in the neck. Splash in the face. Then hot all over.

Esposito decided on action. He spun the bus around and headed for police headquarters. He wanted protection. They gave him two cops.

The cops boarded the bus and frisked the kids again. No water pistols. What, said Esposito, what do you mean no water pistols? No water pistol, said the cops. Look again. Look in the books. In the books?

I don't care where you look. But look again.

One of the cops looked. His eyes bulged. Water pistols! Lying loaded in recesses cut in the pages of the books, concealed water pistols.

The cops got six of them. Confiscated them.

The suspects were lined up and warned any more of this could lead to trouble.

A report was sent to the high school.

Esposito drove the pupils home with a dry smile on his face.

Death Of Minnows Puzzles Science

LANSING (P)—Another of nature's mysteries has come along to tantalize man. It's the "selective kill" of millions of tiny shiners of Michigan's streams within a few days.

Fish and wildlife experts were at a loss to say why it happened. The millions of little fish piled deep in the water. But there was no clue to the cause of their death.

Naturalists call it a "selective kill," because only one kind of fish died. In the early 1940s there was a selective kill of smelt. That tasty little fish lay ankle-deep on the shores of Lakes Huron, and Michigan.

"There are a lot of theories but none of them can entirely be supported by facts," says Dr. Justin W. Leonard, research administrator of the state conservation department.

Pneumonia Fatal To John W. Davis

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—The body of John W. Davis, 81, veteran constitutional lawyer and Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, lay in state at a funeral home today.

Davis, who lost in his bid to unseat Calvin Coolidge from the presidency in 1924, died here Thursday. He had been in a hospital several days with pneumonia, the third attack he had suffered this winter.

A New Yorker, Davis became ill while at Yeaman's Hall, a nearby winter colony. He had been in critical condition since.

The body will be sent to Davis' Locust Valley, Long Island, N.Y., home tonight. Funeral services are set for the Brick Presbyterian Church in New York Monday. Burial will be in Locust Valley Cemetery.

Davis was appointed ambassador to Great Britain in 1918 by President Woodrow Wilson. He resigned in 1921 and returned home to resume his law practice.

Prior to becoming ambassador, he had served two terms in Congress from his native West Virginia, and from 1913 to 1918 he was U.S. solicitor general, a post to which he was appointed by President Wilson.

In 1924 the Democrats nominated Davis on the 103rd ballot as their presidential candidate after a long battle between William Gibbs McAdoo and Alfred E. Smith.

Vision Screening Tests Discussed For County Schools

A vision screening program for Delta County Schools was discussed last evening at a meeting of the Delta County Superintendents Association at the Delta Hotel.

Don Panzborn, vision consultant for the Michigan Department of Health, explained how a vision survey is carried out using the Massachusetts vision test.

The Massachusetts vision test in a school vision screening test accepted by the American Medical Association. It not only detects cases in which there is a lack of keen vision but also detects those children, who pass the acuity test but may have a condition causing eye strain. The test also indicates children who have difficulty in using both eyes together.

George Weingartner, president of the Delta County Superintendents Association, stated that the group has proposed conducting the vision survey in the schools next year.

At a meeting of the Delta County School Board Association to be held this evening, Hagle Quarstrom, will propose the purchase of equipment to carry out the screening.

Homer Roy, 73, Of Gulliver, Dies At County Hospital

MANISTIQUE—Homer Roy, 73, of Gulliver, died at 10:30 last night at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for three weeks.

He was born in Marquette Feb. 20, 1882 and lived in Limestone for 40 years before he moved to Gulliver last November. The body was removed to the Messier Brouilliere Funeral Home where friends may call beginning 7 p. m. Saturday. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Monday at St. Francis de Sales Church, Manistique.

More Officers Of CAP Announced

Joseph Paterick, squadron commander of Delta County Civil Air Patrol, last night announced additional officers of the newly organized patrol.

They are Allen Brukhardt, engineering officer; Lawrence Formenti, operations officer; Vagn Gydesen, personal officer, and Ray Erickson supply officer.

The commander welcomed new members and briefed the squadron on the Civil Air Patrol's rules, regulations and duties of the local unit. A film, "The History of the Helicopter," was shown by Donald Ickes.

Four guests, all attending from Rock, were Leslie Macki, Francis Trombly, Robert Weingartner and Robert Pelkie.

The third Tuesday of each month has been designated as the regular meeting date of the local patrol.

Intoxicated Driver Gets 50 Days Jail

Gerald Rouse, 19, of 2200 S. 26th St., today pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants, and for this and an accumulation of traffic tickets was sent to jail for 50 days when he failed to pay fines and costs totaling $87.

Escanaba police arrested Rouse at 9:45 p. m. Thursday for intoxicated driving on S. 10th St., where he was driving on the wrong side of the street, they reported.

In Justice Ranguette's court he was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and $5 costs or serve 30 days for intoxicated driving; and to pay $10 in fines or serve 10 days for traffic violations. Justice Caroline A. Nystrom, who held two traffic tickets of Rouse, committed him to jail for 10 days for failure to pay fines of $10.

Rouse was driving a car owned by William Thennes, 22, of 207 N. 10th St.

A few minutes after police arrested Rouse, they received a call from Mrs. Rouse, who complained that Thennes had entered her house without permission, refused to leave when requested, and slapped her in the face. She signed a complaint and Thennes is held in jail for arraignment on a charge of assault and battery.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market quietly worked lower today under the pressure of gentle profit-taking.

Prices were down fractions for the most part, but there were some losses going past a point. Plus signs weren't very numerous. A few were excellent.

Business didn't begin to compare with the 3,170,000 shares traded Thursday.

Western Union shot ahead between four and five points at times. American Telephone added a fraction.

Gulf Oil was up between two and three points.

U. S. government bonds were easy.

Girl Is Bruised When Hit By Car

Sandra Crepeau, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Crepeau of 331 N. 16th St., is receiving treatment in St. Francis Hospital for head injuries suffered yesterday afternoon when she was struck by a car.

The accident occurred at 4:33 p. m. at the corner of 3rd Ave. N. and Stephenson Ave., when Sandra ran into the path of a car driven by Peter Rabitoy, Bark River Rte. 2, who was driving east on 3rd Ave. N.

The child suffered a bruised forehead, city police reported. She was taken to the hospital by ambulance. Her condition is not serious.

Police reported that Sandra and a companion, Susan Gannon of 400 Stephenson Ave., ran into the street from between parked cars. Sandra dashed into the path of Rabitoy's car and Susan narrowly avoided being struck, police said.

Eisenhower Avoids Making People Mad

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, who used to be described as a political novice, is a master at not making people mad. He came through a ticklish question this week in typically good condition.

Would he meet with the heads of the British, French and Russian governments to talk peace? He didn't quite say yes. He didn't quite say no. He left the whole idea of such a meeting a shadowy something in the future.

Yet, because of the way he said it, both Sen. George (D-Ga) and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) could take comfort from it.

No Mudslinging

For a president, Eisenhower has been amazingly free of personal attacks and mudslinging. He's given few people an opportunity to get publicly angry at him. He has consistently avoided saying anything publicly to hurt people's feelings or ideas.

Eisenhower said long ago he would not meet with the Russians until they showed evidence of good intentions. Last Sunday George suggested Eisenhower meet with them, without the good intention requirement. Knowland opposed George's proposal.

He insisted the Russians must show honest purpose before Eisenhower sits down with them. Knowland, as Republican leader in the Senate, is Eisenhower's chief lieutenant in that House.

Knowland has frequently disagreed with Eisenhower and often must have tried his patience sorely. But Eisenhower has carefully avoided any quarrel. He needs Knowland. At the same time he has good reasons not to antagonize George, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and the Democrats' chief Senate spokesman on foreign policy.

Both Sides Satisfied

How could Eisenhower reconcile their opposite views? He said there were various ways the Russians could show good intentions. And he said he'd willingly take part in a Big Four meeting if it was a mighty big if.

First there would have to be exploratory conferences by others. He didn't explain exactly what he meant. But even if the exploratory conferences succeeded, it didn't mean he'd attend a Big Four meeting. That depended . . .

There was enough generality in this statement for George and Knowland to interpret it as they wished. What they saw in it did not appear to dissatisfy them.

More Cold Spring Weather Forecast

March came in like a lion and is going to go out like a tiger, with frequent snow flurries and temperatures 10 degrees below the seasonal normal for Michigan.

The five-day outlook for the period March 25-30 indicates the cold will continue throughout the state, with temperatures in Northern Michigan ranging between a low of 10 to a high of about 35 degrees, according to S. E. Decker, U. S. Weather Bureau meteorologist at Escanaba.

There will be increasing cloudiness with occasional light snow or snow flurries tonight and Saturday. Winds will be west to northwest and the temperature will hit a high tomorrow of 15 to 20 degrees.

Decker reported that there has been but a trace of snowfall within the past 24 hours, and that there is now eight inches of snow on the ground. One year ago on this date Escanaba had no snow on the ground, there was a low of 33 and a high of 47 degrees.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Cornell 4-H Style Revue Is Well Attended

CORNELL—The Cornell 4-H Style Revue was held at the Cornell hall on the evening of March 21. The program opened with the 4-H club and Flag pledges, led by the club vice president, Connie Blixt. Miss Nancy Way, welcomed the group, and announced the talent numbers.

First was a song, "Let the Sun Shine In" by the four Blixts—Beverly, Connie, Wendell and Bryan and a piano selection by Jean Ford. The girls modeled as follows:

Second year—Lilly Hudson and Carol Ford, simple cotton dresses. Third year—Carolyn Clarkson, gabardine jumper, Ruth Anderson, cotton dress, and Donna Budinger, linen jumper.

Fourth year—Susan Thompson, wool skirt and blouse, Cherrie Vermote, orlon tweed suit.

Fifth year—Linda Olson, cotton print, Connie Blixt, corduroy jumper and blouse, Ethel Olson, taffeta party dress, Annette Swanson, gabardine jumper, Charlotte Budinger, princess taffeta faille dress.

Sixth year—Jean Ford, winter cotton suit, and Beverly Blixt, dacron gabardine suit and blouse. Seventh year—Janice McFadden, Irish linen suit, Geraldine Miron, empire dress, and Peggy Anderson, ballerina length formal.

Several talent numbers followed including a clarinet duet by Susan Thompson and Ruth Anderson, song by Bryan Blixt and an accordion solo by Annette Swanson.

Plans for the program were made by the 4-H girls assisted by their leaders, Mrs. Ted McFadden and Mrs. Tom Anderson.

Edward Blixt, leader for the boys, also had a nice display of handicraft.

Out of town guests were the teachers of the Cornell school Edith Rosenquist, and Ethel Larson, and Delta County 4-H agent.

Defunct Pickford Bank Depositors Will Get $50,000

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—A settlement of Bank of Pickford receivership claims against the estate of Mrs. Ann Belle Beacom, widow of the bank president, was announced today.

The settlement will return an estimated $50,000 to $70,000 to depositors of the defunct private bank on a pro-rata basis.

Approximately 50 per cent of deposits had been covered in previous settlement suits.

The suit against the estate of Mrs. Beacom, who died a year ago, was brought by Harold McGauley, state receiver. Circuit Judge Richard W. Nebel signed a decree approving the settlement.

The Bank of Pickford collapsed two years ago. It had a shortage of more than half a million dollars. Ford Beacom, president, took his own life.

Fred Farnhardt, Lunch was served by the women of the Cornell P.T.A.

Calypso Newest Game In Card Playing World

Looking for a good game to play during that dull half-hour between your favorite TV shows?

Calypso's your answer. Calypso, the new card game that arrived from England and the West Indies this year, threatens Canasta and Bridge for after-dinner entertainment honors... especially since it takes only a half hour to play. Calypso, described as the first really new card game to come along since Whist, is simpler than Bridge or Canasta yet contains the variety and fascination of both games while adding many new and unique twists of its own. The first "rummy" game with trumps, Calypso is played with four decks of cards shuffled all together to form one gigantic pack. It also gives each player his own personal trump suit even though it is a partnership game.

Although you need four decks of cards to play Calypso, you hold no more than thirteen cards at a time during each of the four deals that comprise a Calypso game. Most games are completed in twenty or thirty minutes and rarely do they take longer than a half hour.

The most remarkable feature of Calypso is that it gives each player his own trump suit. This "personal" trump is determined at the beginning of the game by drawing and is not changed by the cards received during any of the deals. If you draw high card and choose Spades, your partner automatically gets Hearts. Your opponents, of course, get Diamonds and Clubs as trump suits. But no one suits ranks higher than another.

Object of Game
Main object of the new game is to collect thirteen cards in your own trump suit (called Calypso) as many times as you can while capturing as many tricks as possible during the four deals from the mammoth 208-card pack. Completed Calypsos bring bonus scores and the partners with the highest score win the game.

The game has several unusual and exciting aspects. For example, since all four decks are shuffled together as one, you as the Spade player may pick up a hand absolutely devoid of Spades. If Spades is your trump and you lead it no matter how low the card, you win the trick unless one of the other three players can't follow suit and takes the trick with his personal trump. Calypso experts maintain that the game combines a pleasant balance of luck and skill, that it is easy to learn and that it offers considerable opportunities for defensive play. All this plus the fact that it takes so little time to complete a game makes Calypso seem destined to meet with success.

History of Game
Calypso's history is brief but interesting. It was conceived by R. W. Willis, a British airline executive living in Trinidad where it took its name from the topical, improvised folk music of that isle. After Willis took it along to England on a visit, Calypso quickly became the rage there. Then it recrossed the Atlantic once more to take a toe-hold in this country early in January, 1955 and now promises to become the greatest news in card circles since Canasta swept the country in the late Forties.

You can play the game with any four complete decks of cards you have around the house. No Jokers are needed. Or you can buy special Calypso sets in most stores. These contain four matching decks of cards, a diagram called a Calypso Square, some void Suit Indicators, a Calypso scoring pad and a rules booklet.

For those of you who'd like a free, pocket-sized leaflet which teaches you how to play Calypso, you may obtain one by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Playing Cards, 420 Lexington Ave., New York 17.

Easter Hat Lineup Adds Velvet

By DOROTHY ROE
Women's Editor

Something new will appear in the Easter hat lineup this year. It's a vogue for velvet hats for spring.

Velvets, both in combination with straw and used alone with flower trimming, will be seen in considerable numbers this spring, in all the favorite silhouettes of the season.

The small velvet sailor, in beige or gray, with white touches, has a new and smart look with spring suits. And the velvet pill-box with gay flower trim looks as fresh as springtime.

It is predicted that the trend will carry on through summer, with big velvet picture hats teaming with summer print dresses.

NEW LOOK... This perky little sailor with rolled brim is made of pale apricot velvet, with white grosgrain band. Designed by Irene.

COMBINATION... Red velvet teams with natural straw for a striking Easter sailor, with turquoise band.

FRUIT RING... This air-conditioned pillbox of emerald green velvet is trimmed with a ring of bright fruit. Right for suits or dresses.

Violets Now Bloom In Spring Coiffures

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Those engulging hats and scarves that keep us from freezing have taken their toll of our hair. After being tucked up, stuffed in and pinned down for the sake of warmth, hair is scarcely fit to blossom as the shining complement to a spring outfit.

And it's not just the brown-heads who've suffered, the golden and white-heads are a touch on the drab side, too.

One of the answers to the problem of reviving hair for spring hats and smoothed-back coiffures is the raft of tinted shampoos that clean the hair and then add extra glint and sparkle with a touch of color.

Meditations for LENT

By DR. J. CARTER SWAIM
Dept. of English Bible,
National Council of Churches

Written for NEA Service
"What Do You Want Out Of Life?" Here is a bold question in bold type, arresting our attention, on a recruiting poster. Some things that a person might conceivably want are then listed: "Adventure, Travel, Education, Good Pay, Promotion, Security." If any of these appeals, the poster concludes: "There's a good career for you in the Army Ground Forces."

It is somewhat shocking to see the appeal to the young put on this basis. It reminds us of the recruiting campaign of the British navy in the years between the wars, "The safest place in the next war," ran the ads, "will be inside a battleship."

This sort of thing was satirized by a cartoonist who showed two young men at a recruiting office beneath a sign: "Let the Army make you happy; kindly old top-kicks; lovely soft mattresses; food fit for a king." The men whose names are written high in the annals of patriotism did not serve their country for what they could get out of it. Is it true now that the most effective appeal to the young is a crass offer of safety, security, and an easy life? In any case, the Army's question is a good one: "What do you want out of life?" Life has a way of giving us what we set our heart upon. The man who wants gold will find ways of getting it. The man who wants fame stands a good chance of attaining it. Happily, too, the man who wants goodness will find God's riches poured into his heart. "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness," said Jesus (Matthew 5:6, RSV), "for they shall be satisfied."

Saturday at Carnegie Public Library. Mrs. Kenneth G. Jensen, children's librarian, will be in charge. All boys and girls of 3 and over and interested adults are invited.

Baby Explorer Lands In Dryer

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Rufus Sears has added the family clothes dryer to her list of hazards facing mothers. She says her 5-year-old son, William, recently came up the basement stairs and calmly informed her "Mike crawled into the dryer and I locked him in." Mrs. Sears raced down to the dryer and sure enough her 2-year-old son, Mike, was looking out of the dryer's glass door. "He was laughing like the dickens," she says. "Thank heavens Bill didn't turn on the dryer."

Letter from a Stranger

February 9, 1955
Earl Grissmer Co.
Indianapolis, Indiana

Dear Sirs:
I'm writing to you in regard to your product Glaxo. My sister told me about your product but I didn't believe the praise she gave it until I tried it myself. Honestly I have never been so pleased with a product before. Waxes brag that you don't have to use them more than once a month, which isn't true. When I put Glaxo on my kitchen floor I was amazed at the way it "sheds" dirt. I hardly ever have to wash the floor as the dust comes off with the dry mop.

We have a coal furnace which has to be tended through the kitchen to the basement, but even this doesn't bother the pretty shiny finish "Glaxo" gave the floor. The foot prints dust right off. Water spots don't show. Even where the dog dish stands, stays clean and freshly waxed looking.

If ever a product needed praise and is really a work saver, it is Glaxo. Having never liked a product so much I don't know just how to write about it. Don't you advertise Glaxo? My sister heard of it through a friend and her friends through a friend, etc. Something that is so good should be told to the world because you could be telling the truth when you say the unbelievable things Glaxo does.

Until I used Glaxo I had to wash my floor at least every other day as it is a yellow and grey block linoleum.

Please let other women know about Glaxo.

Sincerely,
Mrs. X
Fond du Lac, Wis.

The above letter was received from a total stranger without a word being changed or deleted except the name and street address.

It occurred to us that this would make a better GLAXO ad than anything we could write. GLAXO is available at The Fair Store.

WHO'S KIDDING WHO? AND WHY?

Chapter 5

How much money does the Upper Peninsula Power Company really plan to take out of Escanaba every year? We don't know.

BUT WE DO KNOW THIS:

For our Distribution System their offer now is.....	$1,200,000.00
For "improvements" to our Distribution they plan to spend....	500,000.00
For power line to Gwinn they plan to spend $750,000 of which we believe our share will be at least 60%.....	450,000.00
For a One Unit Steam Plant $3,181,000 of which we believe our share will be at least 60%.....	1,908,600.00
For power line to Huntspur??? Our share.....	?????
For a Paid Professional Advertising Campaign to get the votes??? We don't know this one either.....	?????
	* $4,058,600.00

* Does not include power production costs.

WHAT WILL THIS COST US EVERY YEAR?

$4,058,600.00 times 14% is $568,204.00. Where will this money come from? We all know the answer to that one... FROM OUR LIGHT AND POWER BILLS. Where will it go? We all know the answer to that one too... FEDERAL INCOME TAXES AND DIVIDENDS TO STOCKHOLDERS

This reminds us to mention that of the ten biggest stockholders in the Upper Peninsula Power Company, eight live in New York and Boston, one lives in Detroit and one lives in the Upper Peninsula. We may stop here to remember that the bigger they grow the bigger their take will be.

LET'S KEEP OUR UTILITY PROFITS RIGHT HERE AT HOME.

Beagle Club In Marquette Made Great Progress In Single Year

MARQUETTE — Groups in the Upper Peninsula planning to organize into sportsmen's or conservation clubs might well draw inspiration from the example of the Marquette Beagle Club.

Organized scarcely a year ago (Feb. 22, 1964) with about 35 members as its only asset, the club today boasts a membership of approximately 100 and a 120-acre running grounds, complete with an excellent clubhouse, kennels, sheltered measuring stand and field refreshment stand.

Hard, Volunteer Work

How was the club able to execute this remarkable performance? Mostly, it was a matter of hard, volunteer work on the part of the members.

First, members obtained a lease on 120 acres in the Stickney Swamp from the Harlow Clark Estate.

Description Of Clubhouse

Then construction work got underway. With members performing all of the labor, a 24 by 36-foot clubhouse was built. It has two large picture windows, birch hardwood flooring, knotty pine interior paneling and a large fireplace. Equipment includes two stoves, refrigerator, sink, oil burner, six tables, 60 folding chairs, dishes to accommodate 60 persons at a setting, service counter and a piano.

Toilet facilities are located near the clubhouse. Kennels to house dogs belonging to beaglers from outside the area are located a short distance down the road leading to the field trial grounds where the sheltered measuring stand and refreshment stand are located.

Shiras Institute Grant

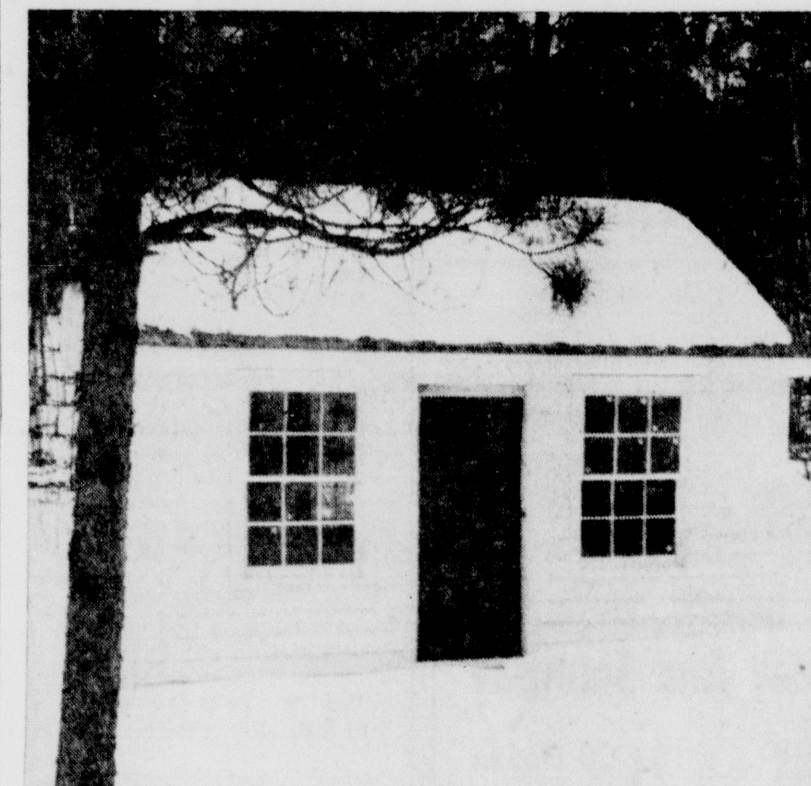

Direct financial assistance granted the club amounted to $1,000.

from the Shiras Institute of Marquette. Some materials were donated, including lumber given by E. S. Bice, Jr., the Schneider Brothers Lumber Company, Freeman Raish and Leo F. Gannon, who is president of the club; one picture window by Mike Libick and another by Franz Menze and fluorescent lighting by Ben Frantz & Co. All other materials were paid for out of the club treasury with funds raised through various club activities.

Gannon estimates the club's buildings to be worth between $10, 000 and $12,000.

The club, whose membership is not restricted to beagle owners, does not intend now to rest on its laurels. Rather, it plans this summer to inaugurate a program for children. Two projects are on tap. One calls for installation of a rifle range for youngsters. The range will be set up inside the running grounds, and all firing will be supervised by adults. The other project calls for planting trout in a small stream that runs through the grounds and limiting fishing there to children.

43,440 Acres In Eastern U. P. Added To Tree Farm System By Escanaba Paper Company

A total of 43,440 additional acres in the eastern Upper Peninsula were added to the large existing tree farm of the Escanaba Paper Company of Escanaba recently by action of the Michigan Tree Farm Committee.

The area — which covers parts of Mackinaw, Schoolcraft, Alger, Luce and Chippewa Counties — has long been recognized throughout the nation as an outstanding example of intensive forest management on a large scale. The Upper Peninsula area was the largest of a number of crop-producing timberland areas in Michigan to come under the tree farm system recently.

Other new Upper Peninsula tree farms include:

Delta County: The 37-acre woodland of Helen Maassoni, Rt. 1, Escanaba, is a mixed stand of hemlock, balsam, cedar, ash, aspen. The area has produced forest products in past years and is well-stocked for further harvests in the future. The owner became interested in the Tree Farm program through John Gucky, Escanaba, a certified tree farmer.

Menominee County: The 330-acre farm woodland of Kenny Ray, Carney, has produced forest products through selective cutting for the last 10 years. Ray, who raises beef cattle, has carefully fenced them out of his timber areas. The woodlot produces about 30 cords of pulpwood and 3,000 cedar cedar posts annually. Through management the yield is being increased each year.

Chippewa County: The 287-acre woodland of Paul L. Adams, Sault Ste. Marie, produced 100 cords of aspen pulpwood in 1953 and contains an 11-acre pine plantation. Adams is managing this area as an investment in growing trees.

Baraga, Houghton, Iron, Ontonagon, Gogebic, Marquette, Dickinson Counties: A total of 10,697 additional acres were added to the existing 91,239-acre tree farm of the Marathon Paper Mills Division of the Marathon Corporation. This tree farm, also, has long been recognized as one of the outstanding examples of forest management in the nation.

Woodland owners interested in joining the tree farm program are urged to contact Bruce G. Buell, Michigan Tree Farm Committee, Amasa, Mich.

Bounty Poll Results Told By U. P. Club

NEWBERRY — Thirty-nine out of 42 trappers questioned by the Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club said they would discontinue trapping if bounties were removed.

The club sent questionnaires to 82 trappers in the Upper Peninsula, posing several queries regarding bounties.

Of the 42 trappers who have replied to date, 32 replied they were in favor of increasing the fox bounty, almost all said they wanted the same bounty on male coyotes as now applies for female coyotes and all 42 stated they would like to see a bobcat bounty equal to that now paid on coyotes and wolves.

Quick Shots

Three directors — one for each of three clubs — for the 18th district of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs were elected at a meeting in Cedarville recently. Chosen were Hardy Hegan of the St. Ignace club; Frenchy Lander-ville, Drummond Island club, and Willard Thon, Les Cheneaux club. State MUCC directors meet every other month to act on organization matters.

Munising riflemen placed first in five events in a recent National Rifle Association meet in downtown Waterford. Munising marksmen took first place in the team event with a 1,529 total. Individual top places went to Carl Strand, Jr., off-hand and master kneeling events; Ray Ranta, sitting-firing, and Robert Peterson, master sitting. Strand also won the grand aggregate.

The Ironwood Conservation Club is considering formation of a rifle club under rules of the National Rifle Association.

Public hearing on the highly-controversial question of continuing deer herd control in the hands of the Conservation Commission probably will be held early in April, according to Bernard Ansley, president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Contrary to what some sportsmen think, there will be no changes in trout season dates this year. Even if the Legislature passes a proposal to open the trout season later and close it earlier, the change in season would not become effective until 1966. The trout season this year will open on April 30 and close on Sept. 11. The special early season on certain rainbow trout waters will open April 9.

NMSA Chief Says Group In MUCC 'Out To Destroy' U. P. Association

A proposal by the Wolverine Sportsmen's Club of Baraga and the Laird Conservation Club of Houghton County to disaffiliate from the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association has brought a blast at the Michigan United Conservation Clubs from M. F. DeFant, Negaunee, president of the NMSA.

"I am disturbed by your affiliation, or proposed affiliation, with MUCC," DeFant said in a letter to Onni Usitalo, Baraga, secretary of the Wolverine club.

Keweenaw Bay Issue

"A certain element within the MUCC is out to destroy the NMSA," he continued. "Right or wrong, we (in NMSA) have been too militant and too aggressive in our views to suit the group that wants to dominate the conservation picture in the State of Michigan."

Usitalo had advised DeFant that the two clubs were contemplating disaffiliating from NMSA because the western clubs in their effort to have portions of Keweenaw Bay closed to commercial fishing. The Laird and Wolverine clubs have long sought to restrict the bay area to commercial angling, but NMSA delegates refused to pass a resolution supporting this proposal at the association's last annual convention in Houghton last September. NMSA delegates tabled the proposal, arguing that it involved a local issue and a matter which was too controversial to be decided by delegates who were unfamiliar with all of the aspects of the question.

'Sad Day For Conservation'

DeFant hinted in his letter to Usitalo that, "from what was stated to me at the convention and from the proposed action, we can only conclude that officials of the MUCC have represented that they can get the Keweenaw Bay closed to commercial fishermen. It appears to me rather strange that the officials of MUCC would commit themselves to such a proposal without first submitting it to their membership."

DeFant declared that "it will be a sad day for conservation in Michigan when all of the sportsmen are united into one single organization. This was very sharply illustrated in recent weeks when the president of MUCC took upon himself the task of dictating to the Governor who should be on the Conservation Commission. This matter was not decided by the membership of the MUCC, but by the officers. Strangely, the officers of the MUCC directed criticism at two of the three men whose terms are expiring. It appeared to us that, objectively, the criticism leveled at two of the commissioners could have applied equally to the third commissioner."

Letter By Ansley

DeFant was referring to an "open letter to the Governor" written by Bernard Ansley, Lansing, MUCC president, and published in MUCC's newspaper, Michigan Out-of-Doors. Ansley criticized Commissioners Peter J. Calcaterra, Norway, and Lawrence J. Gotschall, Baldwin, in the letter, but praised Commissioner George A. Griffith, Grayling.

DeFant pointed out in his letter to Usitalo several factors he said the group should consider on the question of changing their affiliation. The NMSA official said: Discretionary Power Question

1. Affiliation with MUCC "will give impetus to the extension of discretionary power to the commission to regulate the deer herd in the Upper Peninsula."

2. MUCC is, "generally speaking," opposed to the bounty system.

3. MUCC has expressed itself as being in favor of "a limited trout program."

Different Points Of View

"Who is going to fight to see that the Upper Peninsula gets its fair share of money appropriated for game, fish and wildlife programs?" DeFant asked. "What will happen when your interest is opposed to the interest of the sportsmen below the Straits. Whose viewpoint will prevail? Whose recommendations will be placed before the Legislature and the commission?"

In concluding his letter, the NMSA president said: "Lest there be a misunderstanding, may I say that the membership of MUCC is no better and no worse than the membership of the NMSA. The members of these conservation groups generally reflect their own particular needs. They speak, usually, in terms of their local conditions. The man who hunts for pheasants and cottontails and generally fishes for pan fish will have a different point of view than the man who hunts partridge and deer and fishes for trout. The man who lives in an agricultural area in one of the Lower Michigan counties has a different point of view than the man who lives in the cut-over country of the Upper Peninsula. If only for that, there will always be a Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association."

Beaver, Otter Trapping Prospects Fair In U. P.; Seasons Open April 1, 6

Prospects for the Upper Peninsula beaver and otter season, which opens a week from today in the eastern and central part of the Peninsula and April 6 in the western part, were generally rated fair today.

This, coupled with an expected increase in fur prices, promised to send comparatively large numbers of Upper Peninsula residents out on the trap lines — provided weather conditions take a favorable turn.

Split Into Two Areas

Until this week the outlook was for an early spring break-up which would prove a boon to trappers. But heavy snows occurring generally throughout the Upper Peninsula — and particularly in the west end — the first part of this week cast doubts over the prospects for easy access by the time trapping season rolls around.

As was the case last year, the Northern Peninsula will be split into two areas for trapping season purposes. Area A covers five of the six westernmost counties — Houghton, Baraga, Iron, Ontonagon and Gogebic. The season there extends from April 6 to 20. Hides must be sealed by 5 p. m. (EST), April 22. There is no open season this year in one western county, Keweenaw. The season in the remaining nine Northern Peninsula counties extends from April 1 to 13, with 5 p. m. (EST), April 15, as the sealing deadline.

Season limits are unchanged

from last year — six beaver and three otter per license.

The beaver population appears good in Ontonagon, Gogebic and the southern part of Houghton Counties, according to Bob Rafferty, Baraga, district game manager, who expects a fair season.

Ivan Thomson, Crystal Falls, district game manager, says, "We should have an average year in Iron, Dickinson and Menominee Counties." F added that, as has been the case in other years, the beaver population in Iron County appears to be higher than in the other two.

For Delta, Marquette and the west half of Alger Counties, the beaver population is regarded as fair by Howard Eldred, Escanaba, district game manager. He sees a good take if the area has a normal break-up.

In the east end, populations are fair, according to Otto DeWaard, Newberry, district game manager, who said trappers should be able to get around without too much difficulty in the south part of the district, but that parts of the northern tier of counties had more than a foot and a half of snow. DeWaard said otter populations are fair in his district with more animals of this species being found in the western part of his district than in the east.

"Pelt prices are definitely better than they were last year," said Dick Perry, AuTrain fur buyer. He looks for blankets to bring around $25, compared to an $18 figure last year and sees pelts generally up in prices from 20 to 25 per cent.

The Warshawski family—Jacob, Maurice and Daniel — of Crystal Falls likewise predicted increased prices for beaver this year. They are the major fur buyers in that area.

Trappers who find dead beaver are urged to report the number and location immediately to the nearest conservation officer or headquarters so that the Conservation Department may check the reports for evidences of tularemia or any other factor involved in the die-off. The animals should not be handled by trappers. Numbers of dead beaver were reported by trappers in the western Upper Peninsula in 1953 and 1954, and laboratory checks showed two of the carcasses to have been infected with the tularemia "bug."

Beaver trapping licenses are now available at department offices in Escanaba, Marquette and Gwin — among other places — and also from conservation offices throughout the district. The license fee is $2. Licenses must be purchased by April 1 in the eastern and central area and by April 6 in the western area. Beaver and otter trapping regulations are available from local conservation officers and offices.

Bennett Replies

Dear Sir:

I don't know just what Mr. Hansen teaches, but he said that I would be horrified to listen to one of his classes. That part of his statement would be the truth.

He said "the Good Lord had a good reason for placing all our native creatures in their habitats." But he didn't say anything about God placing Man also, the greatest predator, and giving him control over all these creatures.

I'm going to ask you sportsmen to do just one thing. Go to your newsstand and buy a copy of the American Woodsman magazine, March issue, and read the article on Page 12, "Balancing Nature," by Manley Miner.

This man not only knows the truth about predatory animals and birds, he also writes the truth and that is more than I can say about a lot of other articles I have read.

Mr. Hansen, you too should read this article. You might learn a few things about Nature's balancing you didn't learn in school. At least, it won't do you any harm to read it.

It seems that these conservation teachers and biologists can't write any article without telling the sportsmen how much it is costing them say how much it is costing the sportsmen to keep all these teachers, instructors and biologists on the job. And what for? I don't know. Do you?

So remember our game is losing ground fast with the thousands of hunters that invade our forests each year.

So keep the bounty on the animals and help the game all we can to survive

JACK BENNETT

Backs Bennett

To the Editor:

I have read with great interest Mr. Hansen's criticism of Jack Bennett. In the first place, Hansen and Bennett both agree that the bobcat is a killer.

The only thing wrong with the bounty system, according to Mr. Hansen, is that it is a waste of money—$13,605 in one month in 1953. True, that is a lot of bounty money. It must have been paid for a lot of predators.

Also, in Mr. Hansen's letter, it says that bobcats have increased during the past 15 years despite the bounty. Why shouldn't they increase? First, the bounty is on, then off, and now on again at only a miserly $5—it should be $25. You only get what you pay for.

So, I will echo Mr. Hansen and say: Wake up, sportsmen, and think what it would mean to our deer and small game if that $13,605 worth of predators and all their descendants were loose and feasting on our game. Remember this is just one month's bag that Mr. Hansen was referring to when he mentioned how the sportsmen's money was wasted.

Yes, fellows, let's wake up before it is too late and the experts find out what men like Bennett know already.

Our Deer Herd

Dear Editor:

I note with pleasure the increasing use of your page as a means of hunters and trappers expressing their opinions. Still, with the large number of people who hunt, fish, trap or otherwise enjoy our game, too few show enough interest in the future of their sport. This is one of the few sports where you, and you alone, are the principal party in the success or failure of your venture.

For many weeks there has always been at least one article dealing with our deer herd. It is very obvious to all sportsmen that the Conservation Department is very anxious to get favorable public sentiment for legislation on "discretionary power" over all deer in the state. They quote facts and figures, but I do not feel they represent the true picture.

According to them, during the past year, deer count surveys were made in eight or nine half-sections of our U.P. The estimate of deer population was 35 deer per square mile. Just where were those surveys taken, where the deer were most plentiful? Isn't four or four and a half square miles a small percentage when we consider there are over 16,000 square miles in the U.P.?

I have before me a deer report on the 1953 deer kill broken down to zones for the gun season Nov. 15-30. Based on 2.5 per cent. This 2.5 per cent is rather small when you consider there were 440,000 hunters in the field at that time. The bow and arrow report was based on six per cent. I realize that maybe this small percentage was all that was turned in, yet what I am trying to bring out is the fact that it is too small to use as a basis for any definite conclusion.

The illegal deer killed report was based on the report of 200 hunters. Here again, 200 out of 440,000 is mighty small.

I ran across an interesting article from the sports page of the Bay City Times. Headed "Deer Hard Hit," quote, "Michigan's deer herd is having its worst winter in four years, conservation field reports on wildlife starvation indicate. Throughout Northern Michigan deer have overaten food supplies in 'yarding' areas for years," one game official said. "And the problem of starvation in heavy winter may be with us for some time to come—at least until the range can grow back somewhat."

He said scattered starvation reports indicate deer face an "uphill fight" for another month. The person who wrote that article was misinformed as far as this particular year was concerned. In our county, deer are not confined in yards, have had one of the best winters yet, for snow depth has been less than 12 inches on the level.

The boys who performed that "autopsy" on that starved deer at Houghton Lake the other day, were they sure that deer was not hurt or sick before winter set in?

Have you ever followed a browsing deer to see how little food is within its reach? (Winter feeding from trees.) Very little, indeed—why? Not enough harvest of mature timber. I have watched a stand of popple for a long time and have not noticed much change in size. Yet there were no new shoots or small brush under the stand or any like stand, for that matter.

Have you ever seen a deer climb a tree, climb a cedar tree to try to reach the leaves? I have. Why are farmers having more and more trouble with deer in their fields? The grass and clover is young, green and tender.

Why balance nature on one hand and stop it on the other? I have noticed in Wisconsin where they had a three-year "any deer" season, I could take you for a ride to Goodman, Wis., only a few miles from here, and guarantee you would see deer any time of the day. I have taken many rides since this "any deer" season and have yet to see my first deer. Did that help the deer yards? I could not see any noticeable change, and I won't either, unless those over-ripe cedar trees are thinned out and stimulate new growth. We could take all the deer out of a yard and there will not be any new growth underneath in a long, long time.

Dairy Production Testing Pays Big Dividends

D.H.I.A. Production And Test Outstrips Average

By J. L. HEIRMAN

We just received some information from Larry Johnson who is in charge of the dairy production testing program in Michigan. He gave us some very interesting figures.

The average production of dairy cows in Michigan for 1954 was 6,500 pounds of milk and 247 pounds of butterfat. The average production of dairy cows in the testing program is 9,670 pounds of milk and 379 pounds of butterfat. Why the difference? Well, farmers in the testing program know what they are doing. They have records on the individual cow and keep herd replacements from the top producing cows.

We want to go a little deeper into the importance of production testing. Let's talk about it in dollars and cents. The average cow in the state produces 247 pounds of butterfat. At 80 cents a pound, this would gross $197.60 income from that type of cow. Now let's see what the average cow in D. H. I. A. testing will gross. The average is 379 pounds of butterfat at 80 cents per pound, a gross of $303.20. We know that the cost of feed will be higher on farms in the testing program but not too much higher than in herds where everything is guesswork. We should have more dairy herds in the testing program.

Home Gardening Has Advantages

Home gardeners have an advantage in choosing vegetable varieties for their gardens, claims Delta county Agricultural Agent J. L. Heirman.

Heirman makes this statement after comparing the recommended varieties for home gardeners and the recommendations by Michigan State horticulturists for commercial vegetable men. The home gardener can plant any variety he wants, but the commercial grower has to worry about shipping quality.

M. S. C. Horticulturist Robert L. Carolus, maintains that tomatoes and beans should be in every garden, and sweet corn if there is enough space. Here are his variety recommendations:

For tomatoes, plant a few Early Wonder plants around May 15 for early eating, but have some covers handy for frost protection. Then later for canning put in more plants of Stokesdale or Long Red.

Beans are the most satisfactory home garden crops. This year home gardeners can plant the new Contender. They can be planted early and withstand the cold. May 5-10 is not too early. For canning and freezing, Top Crop should be planted after the middle of May. It is a good quality bean and is a good freezer if picked young.

A new sweet corn, Golden Beauty is good for early planting—May 10 and 25. Some Carmel Cross can be sown around May 25. This will give you spread ripening for about three weeks. Golden Cross is a good canning variety. Planting dates may be later in northern counties.

A folder on Recommended Vegetable Varieties is available from the county agricultural agent's office or from the M. S. C. Bulletin Office. Another more comprehensive bulletin on "Home Vegetable Gardens"—E-4—has been revised recently. It will be useful for reference by gardeners with large operations.

Farmer Has To Decide Potato Variety To Use

Several potato growers in Michigan have been writing to the farm crops department at Michigan State asking about the different potato varieties. One grower wants to know about the best early variety to grow on muck soil.

Henry Moore—potato researcher—says that one of the best varieties for both muck and upland soil is the Irish Cobbler. This is an old standard variety well adapted to most of the state. It's a round, white-skin potato with rather deep eyes. It generally cooks white and mealy and produces satisfactory yields. Moore says when the Irish Cobbler is planted in late April or early May, it will be ready for the market in late July or August.

Moore adds that the Irish Cobbler has very little disease resistance, just like most of the other older varieties. Scab is one of the worst troubles with the Irish potato. Varieties that are susceptible to scab should be planted on acid soils. Scab is usually most severe in soils that are sweet or rich in lime.

Moore suggests the Chippewa as another very good early variety. It matures about two weeks later than the Irish Cobbler. The Chippewa has a smooth white skin with shallow eyes. It, too, is susceptible to scab. But it's a good variety for acid muck soil.

During the past two years, a few Michigan potato growers have been trying a new variety. The Cherokee has considerable resistance to scab and late blight. Here in Michigan, the Cherokee is a few days later than the Chippewa. The Cherokee has a smooth white skin and its cooking quality is excellent. Moore says that it may become a standard medium early variety for muck and mineral soils.

Time To Think About Pepping Run-Down Land

It's time to start thinking about pepping up your tired and run-down pastures according to Irwin Ten Haken of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. "Good pastures are one of the basic items in a soil and water conservation plan for any farm," he said.

There are many good pastures in Delta county but also many that can and should be improved this coming spring Ten Haken remarked. He pointed out that now is the time to start lining up your seed and fertilizer requirements for the job.

Some farmers consider their woods and swamp good enough pasture but there are many reasons why cows need the best pasture possible. The dairy cow is basically a consumer of roughage. She was designed by nature to consume and handle large quantities of pasture and hay. When on pasture she needs about 100 to 150 pounds of green feed each day. Often she does not get this much. Many pastures are dry and unproductive for several weeks each year and during this period dairy cattle go hungry. They cannot produce their maximum amount of milk and maintain body weight when they are hungry.

"In soil conservation planning we make provisions for sufficient land in pasture for pastures that are well fertilized and seeded to desirable forage species will enable the cow to keep her four stomachs well filled with high quality feed," Ten Haken added. Good pasture furnishes the cheap nutrients for dairy cattle feeding. Hay and silage rank next. This is important to remember because gross income is not the important thing to consider. Net profit is what the dairymen are after.

An excellent practice is the use of commercial fertilizer as a top-dressing on areas where seed is already present in the soil. This is especially true of the wetter, mineral soils where White Dutch Clover seed is present in the soil. An application of fertilizer according to soil tests would greatly stimulate growth of the clover and grasses and increase the carrying capacity of that pasture.

On upland areas, such as hills or other areas that should remain in sod for soil protection, reseeding may be necessary to maintain the production. The seeding and fertilizer to use would depend on the type of soil, fertility present, and other factors. If you have a pasture problem and are considering some pasture improvement for this coming spring, it is suggested you contact J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, or I. J. Ten Haken, soil conservationist assisting the Delta County Soil Conservation District. Both have offices in the Escanaba post office building.

Federal cost-sharing may be obtained for these practices if carried out according to specifications. Information on this phase may be obtained from the ASC office which is also in the same building.

Waste Of Money

PONTIAC (AP)—Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson says Michigan's big trade of Mayors May 16 is "a waste of money". Donaldson proposed that the money used in the trade be used instead for advertising Michigan outside the state.

Skimping Grain On Heifers Is Poor Economy

EAST LANSING — If you want the best replacements for your dairy herd, don't skimp on grain for your heifers — the ones six months to a year old.

J. G. Hayes, extension dairyman at Michigan State, points out that a heifer needs about two pounds of grain a day—even with heavily-fed good roughage.

And if the roughage is poor, he emphasizes, the heifer needs four pounds of grain every day to keep her growing well.

Hayes says the grain can be the same as that fed the milking herd. If you have a good quality roughage, corn and cob meal alone or with oats are satisfactory. With poor roughage a protein supplement should be added at the rate of about a pound to six or seven pounds of home-grown grain.

After the heifer is a year old and she gets all of a good quality roughage she can eat, she probably needs no grain, according to the extension dairyman. But if the roughage is only fair, he adds, a couple of pounds of grain a day should be fed.

Indian Acrobat Misses Balcony

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A 50-year-old Indian came to town and electrified pedestrians by skipping from one balcony to another on a hotel building.

Then William Hassell missed and landed on the sidewalk 20 feet below.

"Did you hurt yourself?" a bystander asked.

"No. I'm an acrobat—watch," Hassell replied.

He went back to his room, reappeared on the balcony and made two five-foot leaps.

On the third try he missed and ended up in the hospital.

Well-Oiled Defense Fails Holdup Men

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Two unarmed robbers drove to the Other Service station, thinking the one-armed attendant, G. C. Jarvis, 49, would be easy pickings. "This is a holdup," they announced.

Jarvis picked up a quart can of oil and in one sweep, hit both of them. They broke for the door, and Jarvis heaved the can in their general direction. Then he took another shot.

The last he saw of them, they were screeching their tires as they ducked into an alley.

Name Winners In Speech Meet

Eight students of Gladstone High School were chosen to represent the school at a district forensic contest to be held shortly at Norway. The selections were made following tryouts held yesterday at the school.

At Norway Gladstone students will compete in four categories: namely, lyric poetry reading, narrative reading, humorous declamation and dramatic dialogue.

Ronald Vanderberg will compete in lyric poetry reading while Karen Hult is the representative in narrative reading.

In humorous declamation Janet Olson, Dorothy Ellegre and Martha Mathison were named.

In dramatic dialogue the three chosen were Paul LeDuc, Frances Anderson and Karen Kliner.

Judges were Margaret Douglas and Leonard Nyndorp of the faculty.

Coaching the forensic squad is Alice Rhode.

Holy Week Film To Be Shown Here Saturday Evening

"I Beheld His Glory," a color motion picture film on Christ's last week on earth is to be shown Saturday evening at 8 in Trinity Episcopal Church.

The general public is invited. Light refreshments will be served in the church parlors following the film.

The film is based on Holy Week features written by Rev. John Evans, former rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Escanaba, and Trinity Episcopal Church, and for many years religion editor of the Chicago Tribune.

New Liturgical Service Will Be Used On Sunday

Presentation of a Proposed new liturgical service will be made Sunday afternoon at 4 in the First Lutheran Church under sponsorship of the Lutheran Brotherhood.

The presentation will be under the direction of Prof. A. T. Berg-hult, associate professor of music at Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill. Prof. Berg-hult is well qualified to present the service having worked with the committee responsible for the instituting of a new common liturgy.

"The music of the liturgy of the Lutheran Church in America has taken any different forms," states Prof. Berg-hult. "Much of it has just grown and evolved with no central plan as various branches of the Lutheran church borrow from many sources to complete its liturgical service."

"The Augustana Lutheran Church because it was of Swedish origin has taken much of its service from the liturgy of the State church of Sweden. Some parts of its service come directly from the time of the Reformation. Some is more modern and other parts are an English translation of old Swedish texts."

"The program Sunday afternoon will show the new tendencies of a musical setting on the new liturgy as being adopted by many Lutheran churches."

An invitation to attend the presentation has been extended to all Lutheran church congregations in the Escanaba area.

Lunch will be served after the program.

Isaackson Bros. Business Sold

The Isaackson Bros. business of Manistique has been sold to the Warshawsky Bros. of Crystal Falls, Charles N. Isaackson, owner, has announced.

The purchase includes approximately 14 acres of land and all buildings, including a large warehouse, garage and office. The firm is located at the foot of Main Street, in buildings constructed and formerly used by the Thomas Berry Chemical company.

The new owners, Reuben Warshawsky, of Iron River and Maurice and Daniel Warshawsky, of Crystal Falls, will take possession about May 1, Isaackson said. The purchase price was not disclosed. The firm handles scrap iron, metals, auto parts, new warehouse supply steel and raw furs.

Isaackson was born in Latvia and came to Manistique in 1912 from Alpena. He will continue to make his home here and will operate the business until the new owners come.

The business was started in 1913 by the late Frank Isaackson and Charles. It was located in the present Cox Machine company building until about 20 years ago.

Jury Will Not Be Called; State Case Postponed

Judge Richard W. Nebel, of Munising, Friday afternoon instructed G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk, not to call the jury drawn Wednesday for the April term of circuit court here.

The judge stated that a case now is before the U. S. Supreme Court on the validity of grand jury testimony submitted in a circuit court trial, and that trial in the case of the People vs. Ray Marentette, of Shingleton, should be withheld until a decision is announced. The state attorney general requested the postponement, he said.

Only one other jury case was scheduled to be heard in the April term, that of the People vs. John E. Burns, an appeal from Justice court on a deer law violation.

The Marentette case originated here following a grand jury investigation in 1953. Marentette charged with trespass on state-owned timberland.

Grand Marais

Rieman-Erickson

GRAND MARAIS—Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Ann Rieman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rieman of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and Lieutenant Bruce E. Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erickson of Gillette, Wis., former Grand Marais residents, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Desjardin of Grand Marais.

The Nuptial Mass with the Rev. Louis Dietrich, C. S. Sp. as celebrant, the Rev. Seigfried Edkett, C. S. Sp. as organist and accompanist of the Notre Dame Choir was held in Chippewa Falls.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her cocktail length gown of silk shantung, princess style, was fashioned with a Spencer jacket, three-quarter length sleeves and double collar. She carried a shantung covered prayerbook to which rosebuds and hyacinth blossoms were attached. Miss Jeanne Mock of Chippewa Falls, the maid of honor, wore a cocktail length gown of blue shantung with matching hat. Blue carnations composed her bouquet.

Roger Zehren, Bondell, Wis., served as best man. Edwin Erickson and Ray Mayer ushered.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Needles Nite Club at noon with covers for 40 guests. In the afternoon, from 1 to 3, a reception took place at the home of the bride's parents for 100 guests.

When the young couple left for Colorado Springs, Colo., the bride was wearing a light green knit dress. They will make their home at Colorado Springs. Lt. Erickson is stationed at Fort Carson, Colorado.

The bride is a graduate of McDonell Memorial High School and Eau Claire State College. She is a member of the Sigma Pi Kappa sorority and the Kappa Delta Pi, honorary society.

The bridegroom graduated from Grand Marais High School and St. Norbert's College, West De Pere, Wis.

The two state basketball championships won by Houghton and Mass this year raises to 10 the number of titles captured by Upper Peninsula teams in state-wide tournament competition. Schools north of the Straits have carted away state honors three times in Class B, twice in C and five times in D since 1926. Brimley and Mass, both Class D, are the only U. P. schools that have topped more than one state crown. Under the leadership of Karl Parker, Brimley gathered all the marbles in tourney play in 1950 and 1951. Mass won the big title in 1948 and this year.

Iron Mountain was the first team to crack downstate competition in Class B, winning the crown in 1928. Newberry was the first of the U. P. schools to win in Class C, 1926, the same year Michigan dominated Class D. On three occasions the U. P. has boasted double winners. Michigan (D) and Newberry (C) won in 1926. Ishpeming (B) and Brimley (D) in 1950. And Houghton and Mass last Saturday.

Tony Bukovich, who has announced his retirement as an active hockey player, has been in the business a long time. The Portage Lake Pioneer star began his career two decades ago in the Copper Country and saw action with the Detroit Red Wings, Indianapolis and Cleveland. Since 1948 Tony has been playing amateur hockey in the Copper Country and has been a vital factor in promoting the popularity of the sport in the Upper Peninsula.

Frank Rodman, manager of the Hermansville Gold Medal tournament, says the 53 points scored by 6-6 Pete Lindbeck Wednesday night marks an all-time record in the 17-year tourney. Lindbeck, who packs 240 pounds on his big frame, scored 22 field goals and 9 free throws as the Iron River Merchants drubbed Peshtigo 82-55. The Class A section of the huge Gold Medal tournament gets into full swing in tonight's schedule.

9—Republic Shooting Stars vs. Robbins of Ishpeming
10—Menominee Jozaitis vs. Hermansville Joe's (Class B)

HERMANVILLE—Escanaba's last two representatives in the Upper Peninsula-Northern Wisconsin Gold Medal basketball tournament here fell by the wayside last night.

Mike's Bar suffered an 84-70 setback at the hands of the host Rodman's Bar quint and the Escanaba Independents bowed 74-48 to Menominee Jozwiaks.

The highly-regarded Iron River Merchants also slipped out of title contention by losing a 54-51 decision to the Iron Mountain Zephyrs. Menominee Jozwiaks edged by Norway Towle's Service, 51-50, in the other Class B game last night.

Class A Tonight

Six Class A quint take to the court tonight with the Manistique C&L Hardwares facing the Negaunee Goebels in an 8 o'clock clash. One Class B game, matching Menominee Jozaitis and Hermansville Joe's Tavern, will be staged tonight.

Jim Betcheck continued to pace Rodman's quint, scoring 28 points in the win over Mike's. Mike's opened fast for a 21-12 lead in the first period but Rodman's whittled the margin to 31-30 at the half and then turned on the heat to lead 59-46 at the end of the third period. The teams played on even terms in the fourth quarter.

Three other Rodman's players hit in double figures, Milt Ahlard scoring 11 and Bernard Poquette and Lloyd LaCasse 10 each. Ron Feuerstein and Don Scott set the pace for Mike's with 17 and 16 points apiece.

Lindbeck Held To 12

The Escanaba Independents were never in the ball game against Jozaitis. The Menominee quint grabbed a 31-18 lead and the half and sailed home easily. Jim Strem, Jozaitis center, set the scoring pace with 26 points.

New Phillies Manager Smith Has His Roberts But Where Is Simmons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Last Oct. 14 the Philadelphia Phillies picked a guy named Smith out of baseball obscurity and made him manager. They guaranteed him a living wage and the services of Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons.

Now it looks as if Mayo Smith may have grounds for a breach of contract suit. He has money and Roberts—but no Simmons.

The southpaw is in camp, all right, but his left arm has been hanging on a hook.

Roberts Is Okay

Roberts looks as robust as ever, and the rippling right-hander figures to be a 20-game winner for a sixth consecutive season. But Simmons, his running mate when Philadelphia was the 1950 National League champ, has been bothered by arm trouble since the start of spring training.

Simmons talked encouragingly Thursday, however. He had pitched some the day before and, despite continued pain, was optimistic.

"I was firing pretty good," he said, "and it only bothered me a little. I think my arm will be better when I get out under the sunshine."

Eight Florida exhibition games were rained out Thursday and only the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Athletics managed to get some licks in. The Orioles won 4-2 as rain ended it at five innings.

Cubs' Sixth In Row

The only other action was in Arizona. The Chicago Cubs won their sixth straight, defeating Cleveland 6-2, and the New York Giants disposed of an accumulation of Pacific Coast League stars 10-2.

Baltimore scored four runs in the first, loading the bases on an error and two walks. The runs came in on a second error and singles by Willie Miranda and Gus Triandos.

The Cubs let veteran Bob Rush go seven innings and finished with Warren Hacker to set down the Tribe on four hits. Hal Rice smacked a pair of homers and rookie Bob Speake lofted one, all off Mike Garcia.

Celtics Drop Second Game In Pro Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics have Easy Ed Macauley, Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman, but not much defense and as a result the Syracuse Nationals have a 2-0 lead in their best-of-5 eastern division playoff of the National Basketball Assn.

Sharman scored 32 points for the Celtics Thursday night, but the Nets withstood a late Boston Rally to pull it out 116-110. Syracuse, the defending eastern division champ, could wrap it up Saturday afternoon at Boston.

The western division playoff is marking time. Fort Wayne leads Minneapolis 2-1. The fourth game is scheduled for Minneapolis Sunday.

Top Skiers Compete Against Europeans

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (P)—Some of the nation's top skiers go up against a favored field of European stars in the 15th running of the Harriman Cup races Saturday and Sunday.

Most of the European aces who dominated the American International races at Stowe, Vt., last weekend, including combined champion Anderl Molterer of Austria, are entered in the downhill and slalom events.

Andrea Mead Lawrence, women's winner at Stowe, passed up a try for her third Harriman Cup this year, making the women's races a wide open affair among the 22 entrants.

Four members of the United States 1956 Olympic team, including Buddy Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., downhill winner at Stowe, are among the 46 men entries.

Escanaba Will Be Site Of Golf, Track Finals

Escanaba will be the site of two Upper Peninsula championship high school sports events this spring, with the track and field finals scheduled here Saturday, May 21, and the golf finals on Friday, May 20.

Announcement of the selection of the championship site for track and golf was made in Iron Mountain following a meeting of the Upper Peninsula Athletic Committee with Charles E. Forsythe, state prep athletics director.

Regional meets in track and field will be held a week earlier than the finals at Marquette, Iron Mountain, Sault Ste. Marie and Menominee in Class B. Sault, Houghton, Menominee and Marquette will also be hosts for Class D-E regional competitors, while Bessemer and Houghton will be the sites for Class C meets. Qualifiers in all classes will be in the finals meet here.

The golf finals will be held at the Escanaba Country Club. All selections, according to the athletic committee, were made on the basis of results of a questionnaire sent out by Forsythe and were determined on a basis of proximity to schools in each class.

The Class B tennis tournament was awarded to Marquette and will be held June 3-4. The Class C tourney will be at Stambaugh at the same time.

Eskymo Cagers Get Letters; 4 Seniors

Basketball letters were awarded to 12 Escanaba High School varsity players by Coach Jim Betcheck at a school assembly program today.

Awards were presented to Mike Heminger, John Dulek, Ted Anspaugh, Tom Hogan, Lawrence Sauve, Jack Carlson, Ricky Erickson, Jim Beck, Bob DeMars, Bill Bolm, Oliver Swanson and Bob Bero, and to Bob Krause, student manager.

Only four letter winners will be lost through graduation this year.

ABC Tourney Under Way Saturday Night

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (P)—The 52nd annual American Bowling Congress tournament opens here Saturday on 38 gleaming new alleys which will feel the weight of about 16 million pounds of bowling balls by the time the 72-day-meet is over.

Lined up for a crack at part of the $428,333 prize fund are more than 31,000 bowlers from 42 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Saudi Arabia, Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba. There are 5,826 teams entered.

Last year's winners who will be back include Tony Sparando of Rego Park, N.Y., who took the 1954 singles title; Tri-Par Radio of Chicago (now Hamm's Beer) in the team event; Don McClaren of St. Louis and Billy Welu of Houston in the doubles, and 1954 all-events king Brad Lewis of Ashland, Ohio.

Baker Fights Mederos; Eyes Shot At Marciano

NEW YORK (P)—With a title shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano looming on the horizon, Bob Baker, the 28-year-old Pittsburgher, battles Julio Mederos, of Havana, in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Baker rules a solid 7-2 choice over Mederos, who popped into the limelight three weeks ago when he sent Roland La Starza down for the count in Miami.

Originally, Baker was to take on Harold Johnson. But Johnson caught a cold, so the International Boxing Club picked Mederos, who has done most of his fighting around Miami.

Baker, No. 3 on the heavyweight list, has won eight in a row since being knocked out by Archie Moore the light heavyweight champion, a year ago.

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 9 p. m., (CST).

Reign Of Peoria Cats As Cage Champs Ended

DENVER (P)—The three-year reign of the Peoria, Ill., Cats as champions of National Amateur Athletic union basketball crumbled Thursday night in a 70-67 loss to senior members of the University of Colorado team that won the Big Seven Conference this season.

The Colorado collegians led two other outsiders into tonight's semifinals of the 48th annual AAU tourney. Along with them are the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips 66ers, who won the National Industrial Basketball League crown. Phillips was the pre-tourney favorite here.

The U. S. Marine Corp champions from Quantico, Va., are matched against the University of Colorado players. The Phillips 66ers meet the San Francisco Olympic club, a talented collection of West Coast college players.

Burdette Halderson, 6-7 center, scored 33 points in leading the Colorado team, playing under the colors of Lockett-Nix of Boulder.

past the three-time champions from Peoria. Colorado held 5 to 7-point leads early in the game and never let the Cats get more than a point ahead. The Collegians led 65-59 with four minutes left and flashed exceptional poise in turning back a late surge by the Cats.

San Francisco Olympic Club defeated North Carolina State, 70-60, as Ron Tomasic of Stanford delivered clutch points that erased North Carolina's 30-26 halftime edge and put the Californians ahead to stay.

The Marines, 81-72 winners, never lagged after going in front of the Los Angeles Kirby Shoes team at 31-30 with 4:45 left in the first half.

Phillips 66 hardly worked up a sweat in disposing of Greeley, Colo. Gregory Clothiers, 56 - 44. The Greeley team was made up of Colorado State College players who finished fourth in the six-team Rocky Mountain Conference.

Cardinals Will Go As Far As Pitching Carries Them: Stanky

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P)—In the words of manager Eddie Stanky, his St. Louis Cardinals "will go as far as our pitching can carry us."

Last summer the club staggered to a sixth-place finish, 25 games behind the leaders. With Vic Raschi unable to work in regular turn and Gerry Staley flopping, Stanky had to resort to the questionable tactics of using Harvey Haddix and Brooks Lawrence as both starters and relief.

"We're going with a young pitching staff," said Stanky at Al Lang Field.

Pitching Nucleus

"For my nucleus I have Haddix, Lawrence, Gordon Jones and Tom Poholsky. Of the new boys, Luis Arroyo, Floyd Woodbridge and Larry Jackson have looked good. I hope to get some relief help from Frank Smith from Barney Schultz and Bobby Tiefenauer, plus Paul LaPalme. Tony Jacobs, another relief man, has done some good work. Joe Presko is a possibility."

Stanky didn't mention Raschi, the ex-New York Yankee, who won't pitch for at least a month and may be finished because of back trouble.

This is the last season of Stanky's three-year contract. Although owner Gussie Busch gave him a vote of confidence during the winter, it is obvious he won't settle for another sixth place finish.

Questionable Trade
The deal with Cincinnati by which the Cards acquired Smith, (5-8), for Staley and Ray Jablonski left the front office and Stanky wide open for second guessing. If Staley wins at Cincy and Jabbo drives in 100 runs, Smith will have to do a Hoyt Wilhelm - Marv Gris-som job on relief to balance the scales.

Haddix (18-13), is the lone lefty sure to start. He faded in late summer after being hit on the knee by a line drive.

Lawrence (15-6) came up from Columbus to become the star of the staff, starting and relieving in late summer. Jones (4-4), showed real promise after his August promotion from Omaha and Poholsky (5-7) pitched better than his record shows.

Arroyo (8-6 at Columbus and 8-3 at Houston) is a Puerto Rican left-hander with a real chance. Woodbridge, a righthander, sat out last season because a broken ankle failed to heal properly. He was 15-13 at Houston in '53. Jackson (12-6 at Rochester) may make it on his first major league test.

Rookie At Third
Rookie Ken Boyer, is set at third base off a .319 season at Houston.

Bill Virdon, another rookie up from Rochester where he led the International League, 333, is a key to the outfield and infield. If Virdon makes it, Stan Musial probably will be shifted to first base. Meantime, Joe Cunningham (284) and Tom Alston (246) are fighting for first.

Red Schoendienst (315), best second baseman in the league, and sophomore Alex Grammas (264) round out the infield.

Musial (.330) in right field—or first base—is the big man of the club, of course. Wally Moon (.304), rookie of the year in '54 and Rip Repulski (.283) are the other outfield regulars.

The catching will be handled by Bill Sarni (.300) and the veteran Del Rice (.252).

Red Wings Squeeze By Leafs 2-1 In Playoffs

DETROIT (AP) — By squeeze or breeze, the Detroit Red Wings kept right on winning—and today were rated overwhelming favorites to sweep into the finals of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

They altered the script Thursday night but wound up with their 11th straight victory—a 2-1 edge on the Toronto Maple Leafs, supposedly the masters of defensive hockey.

It gave the Red Wings a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven semifinal series.

When they won their final nine games of the regular season, the Red Wings ran up lopsided scores like 6-0, 6-1 and 6-2. In last Tuesday's playoff opener, they outscored the Maple Leafs 7-4. Thursday night—much to the dismay of the Maple Leafs—the Wings showed that they know a little about defense, too. They took a 2-1 lead early in the first period, then protected the slim margin through final 51 minutes.

Toronto broke into a quick 1-0 lead after only 17 seconds, with Sid Smith converting Capt. Ted Kennedy's pass out.

Toronto's lead didn't last very long. Hugh Bolton of the Leafs was penalized at 7:04 for holding and teammate Eric Nesterenko followed him into the penalty box only 50 seconds later for tripping.

That gave Detroit a two-man advantage for a minute and 10 seconds, and the Wings made the most of it. Both Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio scored.

Two Quick Goals
Howe clicked at 8:09, picking up a double rebound and powering it past goalie Harry Lumley. Just 45 seconds later Delvecchio put the Wings ahead to stay with a 15-foot blur which Lumley never saw.

The Maple Leafs kept trying for the equalizer right up until the final buzzer, but the Wings wouldn't yield.

The Maple Leafs, naturally, were dejected, but not completely defeated.

"We should have won," said Coach King Clancy. "But we'll be back. They can't be lucky all the time."

The next two games of the series will be on Maple Leaf ice in Toronto Saturday and Tuesday.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT
By The Associated Press
Los Angeles — Billy Evans, 126½, Pasadena, stopped Luke Sandoval, 127, Los Angeles, 6.

Lansing, Mich. — Dick Ramazetti, 129, Detroit, outpointed Herky Kamensky, 131, Pittsburgh, 6.

Dallas — Oscar Pharo, 196, Birmingham, Ala., outpointed Bobby Spaeth, 184, Wichita, 10.

Liverpool, England — Johnny Sullivan, 160½, London, knocked out Andre De Kersgieter, 160½, Belgium, 3.

Two double-crown winners were registered Thursday.

California's world champion, Mrs. Patricia McCormick, added the 10-meter platform title to her 3-meter championship, and Mexico's Joaquin Capilla did the same, repeating exactly his 1951 Pan-American triumph off both boards.

Breaks Own Record
The U. S. Olympic sprint king, Clarke Scholes, won the 100 meter free style in :57.7 to break his own record of :58.03 set in the preliminaries last week.

The girls 400-meter relay foursome, Gretchen Kluter, Carolyn Green, Judy Roberts and Wanda Lee Werner, registered 4:31.8, better than the 4:37.1 established in 1951 by another American team.

The other Yankee triumph was a one-two affair delivered by Mary Lou Elsenius and Mary Jane Sears in the 200-meter breaststroke with a winning time of 3:08.4.

Canada's 18-year-old Leonore Fisher won the 100 backstroke. She did it in 1:16.7, beating her own preliminary-made record of 1:16.8.

Congress Uses Fair Play Code

WASHINGTON (AP)—House committees found themselves operating Thursday under new set of rules which some members said might curb future public investigations.

Known as a "code of fair play," the new rules were embodied in a resolution adopted by the House Wednesday.

The code is designed to afford protection to witnesses and to put an end to one-man investigations. It provides that no subcommittee may consist of fewer than two members if evidence or testimony is to be received.

It gives witnesses the right to bring their own attorneys. It also requires the chairman of an investigative committee to "announce in an opening statement the subject of the investigation."

The most controversial provision makes it mandatory to receive in closed sessions evidence or testimony which the committee "determines . . . may tend to defame, degrade or incriminate any person."

Unless the committee approves, such evidence could not be made public or used later in a public session.

Rep. Hardy (D-Va.) said a committee would have no option but to close its hearings to the public and press the moment any derogatory information is received.

"This will hamstring every important investigation," he said.

Mrs. Lawrence Wils and infant son, Keith Edward, returned home Monday from St. Francis Hospital.

Prayers for vocations were recited by parishioners of St. Joseph's Church today.

New Job Provides Six Month Vacation

BLOOMINGDALE, Mich. (AP)—When poor health forced Charles Wilson out of an office and into the outdoors, he and his wife decided to go into the poultry business. Today, 14 years later, they've perfected their chicken business to the point where they can take six-month vacations every year.

They raise broilers for the resort trade. Production starts in April and ends in mid-October.

The brooder on their 8½-acre chicken farm starts 300 chicks a week. When they're ready for market the chickens are plucked and drawn by an electric device, then packaged for dealers. With help from neighbors, the Wilsons say they can dress up to 100 birds an hour.

A LUCKY SLAM

OVER any appreciable period of time, bad bidding and play get exactly what they deserve, but it can't be denied that an occasional "flyer" has remarkable success. For example:

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

The bidding:
South West North East
1♦ 1♠ 3♦ Pass
3NT Pass 6NT (!) Pass
Pass Pass

Apparently, North bid three diamonds on the first round only to lure his partner into a false sense of security, because when South innocently went to three notrump, North took off his mask and, overbidding inexcusably, leaped all the way to the slam.

Paul V. McNutt Taken By Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, 64, former governor of Indiana and ex-envoy to the Philippines, died here Thursday.

McNutt, ill about six months, was flown home from Manila about two weeks ago, interrupting an around-the-world cruise with Mrs. McNutt.

Both his wife and his daughter, Louise, were with him when he died at his apartment about 8:30 a. m.

McNutt first came into national prominence in 1928 when chosen commander of the American Legion. From that springboard he went into politics, became governor of Indiana and a presidential aspirant.

His White House ambition, which he harbored from early boyhood, glowed the brightest prior to the 1940 Democratic National Convention. McNutt toured the nation then, expounding his theories of government. But his candidacy was conditional on Franklin D. Roosevelt's not seeking a third term.

When Roosevelt decided to run again, McNutt dropped out of the picture and his presidential chances faded away.

Water Nymph Is Pestered By Boys

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Water nymphs—as anyone with a book on Greek mythology in hand should know—should be appeased—not badgered. Bother a water nymph and you may be in for some bad luck.

With these facts in mind, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts decided to move its water nymph statue from the entrance and let it guard a lesser fountain inside the main building.

Adult art devotees, it seems, were regularly appeasing the nymph and courting good fortune by tossing coins in the fountain. But small boys were regularly risking their wrath by fishing out the coins before the museum could get around to it.
